Delegations Make Plea That Health Bill Be Delayed

Representatives of All Vancouver Industry and of Canadian Medical Association Wait on Members of Government Today; Say Industry Cannot Stand Extra Burden Now

Government Plans Said Unaffected

With a second caucus meeting on the bill in prospect this evening, medical men and Vancouver business men launched a strong drive on the British Columbia Legislature today to halt passage of the proposed health insurance bill, but it was indicated their representations did not affect the government's plan.

While a delegation of businessmen, who said they represented practically all the industry of Vancouver, were urging private Liberal members at a special conference to delay the measure, another deputation, consisting of doctors, held a two-hour conference with the government.

HOLD THEIR GROUND

Breaking their agreement to evacuate by 8 a.m. Friday, the central points they seized in their swift coup at dawn Wednesday, the 1,000 rebels maintained their grip on government buildings against a force of more than 4,000 loyal troops.

In this tense atmosphere, the Dome Agency announced, new negotiations for a peaceful return of the insurgents to their quarters were opened between rebel leaders and officers of the martial law administration at the official residence of the uprising. Premier, headquarters of the uprising.

Emperor Hirohito persisted in his negotiations for a new government to replace that of the assassinated Premier Keioku Okada, with the imperial princes and officers of the army high command now wielding the predominating influences.

Under the insistence of the insurgents that their militarist ideals of government be fulfilled, Gen. Sadao Araki, "strong man" former minister of War and idol of the troops, was mentioned widely for the premiership.

(An unconfirmed report from Tokyo to Shanghai through diplomatic channels said General Araki had established a military dictatorship.

The government, still conducted nominally by former Home Minister Fumio Goto, who was named Acting Premier after the assassination of Premier Okada, was declared authoritative to be still hopeful of a bloodless settlement.

A peaceful, unhindered termination to the crisis was sought, to throw the uprising in the light of fiasco.

The rebels, in addition to the Premier's residence, held the Peers' Club, the Koraku Restaurant and the Sanko Hotel—all in the centre of the capital.

The navy brought its first and second fleets to guard the ports of Tokyo and Osaka, on the southern end of the main island.

NEW HAUPTMANN REPRIEVE POSSIBLETHREE-POWER NAVAL TALKS*Italy Out at London, But Britain Has Plan to Widen Efforts

Associated Press
London, Feb. 28.—The Naval Limitation Conference which was initiated last December with five world powers had become a three-power conference today, for all practical purposes.

As Great Britain struggled to salvage some profit from the conversations with the United States and France, Italy in effect took the same step in bowing out of the conference that Japan took exactly six weeks ago. The stumbling block to Fascist co-operation is sanctions.

Italy's announcement to Britain that it was not now prepared to sign a naval limitation treaty was interpreted in conference quarters as an indication only of a temporary non-cooperation can be expected from the envoys of Premier Mussolini from now on.

An Associated Press dispatch yesterday evening said Great Britain had indicated to Naval Conference quarters that she intended to propose a new plan to obtain a world naval limitation treaty through bi-lateral negotiations with other powers.

First discussions under the new plan would be with the Americans and Germans. If they should accept the idea, Russia would probably be next approached, with Japan, France and Italy following.

The plan would be for each power to negotiate separately with the British and initial a draft treaty providing for an annual exchange of information on building programmes and limitation of the sizes and types of ships.

The present conference would be adjourned until near the end of the year.

HEIDELBERG IS BOYCOTTEDNearly All Universities in Britain Reject Invitation; Alberta Not Represented

Berlin, Feb. 28.—While nearly every university in Great Britain has signified its intention to boycott the event, it was announced here today that the University of Alberta and six United States institutions have accepted invitations to send delegates to the 50th anniversary celebration at Heidelberg University next June.

The six United States universities are Columbia, New York University, Cornell, the University of Wisconsin, the University of Michigan, and the University of California. The University of Alberta is the only Canadian university to accept the invitation.

The movement in Great Britain to boycott the celebration at Heidelberg was begun by Oxford University, which has refused to accept the invitation. Other institutions and scientific societies rapidly falling in line.

Authorities at Oxford gave as their reason for deciding against representation at the festival of the policy of the Nazi regime in suppressing academic freedom and the dismissal of a number of outstanding scholars on racial grounds at Heidelberg and other German universities.

Edmonton, Feb. 28 (Canadian Press).—The University of Alberta has not accepted an invitation to attend the Heidelberg University anniversary celebration in June, Dean W. A. R. Kerr said today in answer to a cable announcement from Berlin which said the university here and six United States universities had definitely accepted.

President R. C. Wallace, now absent from the city, had merely acknowledged receipt of the invitation, Dean Kerr said, and had added that as no person from the University of Alberta would likely be near Heidelberg at the time of the anniversary it was probable the University would not be represented.

Toronto, Feb. 28 (Canadian Press).—The bill providing for Ontario's first province-wide income tax passed by sixty-four to seventeen in the Legislature yesterday. The tax will be collected on 1935 incomes.

Scott's debut as Don Giovanni in Covent Garden, London, in 1909 took the operatic world by storm. He was at once engaged for the Metropolitan Opera Company.

FRIEND OF CARUSO

It was Scott who induced Caruso to take an engagement at Covent Garden which led to Caruso's New York appearance. For years they lived together in New York, and during Caruso's illness, Scott was continually at his bedside, leaving the opera house with his make-up on, in order to spend more time with his friend.

A ceremony was held on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House in 1924 after Scott's appearance in "La Traviata," commemorating his twenty-five consecutive seasons with the company. The entire house arose and palmed him with roses for twelve minutes.

Scott always set female hearts aflame by the greatness and perfection of his art. A villain on the stage, as most baritones are, in real life he was beloved by all who knew him, for his loyalty and unaffected modesty.

Some of Scott's favorite roles were Falstaff, Tonio in "I Pagliacci," the count in Nozze di Figaro, Rigoletto, Iago in Verdi's "Othello," Marcel in "La Boheme," Escamillo in "Carmen," Valentine in "Faust," the U.S. Consul in "Madame Butterfly," Scarpia in "La Tosca," Germont in "La Traviata," and Don Giovanni.

Patrons of opera who saw Scott only in the role of Falstaff thought of him as a heavy man, who waddled clumsily about the stage. In reality he was tall and lithe, and he often remarked he lost on an average of four pounds after an appearance in the heavy garments he wore as Falstaff.

To the end, this "Grand old Man" of the Metropolitan Opera kept up his youthful appearance, while other stars, years younger, began to show the effects of the long, tiring strain of rehearsals and performances.

Loon Lake, Wash., Feb. 28.—Pilot Joe Croson, veteran Alaska pilot, took off at 8.11 o'clock this morning for Tanana, Alaska. His plane is equipped with a new type of skis instead of wheels.

Purred to come here from Felix Field, where warm weather had melted most of the snow, Croson took the air with a minimum of preparation, as the ice on this lake also was melting rapidly. With copilot Walter Hall he planned to fly the "inside airway" via Prince George.

Meanwhile at Fairbanks, Alaska, friends of Mary Joyce, twenty-seven, six days overdue at Tanana Crossing on a mush to Fairbanks, expressed hope today that Croson might sight her on his northward flight.

His route would carry him over the region between Burwash Landing, T.T. and Tanana Crossing, where the Taku, Alaska, hunting lodge mistress has been surprised since February 9 on her more than 1,000-mile mush to Fairbanks.

She left Burwash Landing on the north side of Klunne Lake, with her five dogs and an Indian guide named Jimmy Allen, February 9, on a 300-mile mush through sparsely settled, ice-locked country.

A telegraph communication from Tanana said she had not been heard from since.

As he stepped into the plane, Croson said: "We will go today as long as gasoline and weather will permit us to go."

The pilot estimated that he would be about 1,600 miles, if the reported good weather held. The plane was loaded with 416 gallons of gasoline, enough for about ten hours in the air.

It was believed the fliers would stop at Whitehorse.

Attorney-General of New Jersey Will Take No Action If Governor Harold G. Hoffman Further Delays Execution and Continues Investigation

Associated Press
Trenton, N.J., Feb. 28.—An authoritative source said today Attorney-General David T. Wilentz, chief prosecutor of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, will not oppose a second reprieve for the man convicted of slaying Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh's first son.

Wilentz, the source said, will neither oppose a reprieve nor consent to it, but will stand aside and let Governor Harold G. Hoffman make his own decision whether to delay further Hauptmann's death sentence, without interference from the Attorney-General's office.

The Attorney-General will remain passive on the Governor's contention that more than one person was implicated in the crime, that the testimony of some state witnesses would bear closer scrutiny and that prosecution officials have withheld important information in the case.

Hauptmann now is under sentence to be executed during the week of March 30, following one thirty-day reprieve granted by the Governor.

there was no trouble between him and the Fascist regime.

Antonio Scotti was unique in years of stardom in opera. He received ovations for forty-three years. In every corner of the globe where grand opera is sung.

He was still in his twenty-fourth year when he made his debut at the old Royal Opera at Malta, singing "Aida."

Previous to that time he had been intended for the priesthood by his parents. He was born January 28, 1866, in Naples.

In 1899 he was engaged by the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York, largely through the influence of his close friend, Enrico Caruso.

Opera lovers there were devoted to him. But, despite the adulation heaped on him, Scotti was always modest.

HIS FAREWELL

His farewell appearance at the Metropolitan, on January 21, 1933, found him so embarrassed that he said he actually lost his voice during rehearsal. His singing, however, was faultless as always.

His retirement to Italy was quiet and he refused suggestions that he teach vocal aspirants. "I would be too many great teachers."

Scotti learned of his remarkable vocal powers while studying for the priesthood in Naples, and changed his plans for a career with the church to begin studies with Mme. Trifari Pagliardini. His unheralded debut in 1899 in Malta, in which he sang the baritone part of Amosaro in "Aida" was so successful that he immediately appeared in Milan. For the next seven years he sang in South America.

He was guest artist afterwards in Madrid, Petrograd, Warsaw and Odessa.

Secretary had an estimate before the House to cover the cost of a band of Italian deserters who had crossed the frontier, into Kenya and were there interned.

Not forgetting Mr. Thomas was the National government, the Labor opposition immediately became inquisitive. What was the position of these deserters under international law? It was asked. Who was responsible for their upkeep?

The Secretary did not satisfy the Labor members, who took umbrage and proceeded to keep the House going. They were consumed with curiosity. When the Thomas votes went through they plunged into other departments. Sir Stafford Cripps answered questions.

Not forgetting Mr. Thomas was the National government, the Labor opposition immediately became inquisitive. What was the position of these deserters under international law? It was asked. Who was responsible for their upkeep?

The Secretary did not satisfy the Labor members, who took umbrage and proceeded to keep the House going. They were consumed with curiosity. When the Thomas votes went through they plunged into other departments. Sir Stafford Cripps answered questions.

NEW THEORY OF LIFE IS STATED

All Energy Is Radiant Or Electric, Says Dr. G. Crile of Cleveland, Ohio, in Book Published Today

By WARREN McNEILL
Associated Press Staff Writer
New York, Feb. 28.—Dr. George Crile, noted Cleveland surgeon, summarizes the results of nearly half a century of effort to explain the mysteries of life and death in a book published today.

"The Phenomena of Life" is the title of the volume in which he offers "a radio-electric interpretation" of life developed during his long career of study and practice.

He concludes that all the essential facts of life can be identified in terms of physics. All matter, he believes, is electrical in nature and all energy is radiant or electric energy. Therefore, living matter must rise out of and be kept active by radiant and electric energy.

SYSTEM OF GENERATORS

This leads him to the conclusion that living matter consists of a system of generators, conductance-lines and material for storing electrical charges. He traces the beginnings of life back to the action of lightning and the electricity of the earth of nitrogen, causing it to combine with other elements to form nitrates.

"The nitrates in the soil represent the pre-plant phase of the organism," he continues. "Solar radiation added to the nitrates generates plants. Plants generate animals. Thus solar radiation generates man."

Oxidation—the slow burning—of carbon compounds stored in plants is described as causing the release in animals of solar radiation in the form of radiant and electric energy.

This energy forms and continues to give power to the living organism which he compares to an electric battery. As long as the energy flows into and out of the organism lives. The battery "runs down" or the organism is dead whenever the supply of energy is cut off or the parts of the battery are damaged to such an extent they cannot continue the functions to which they are adapted.

As an illustration of the electrical nature of living things, Dr. Crile cites an experiment in which enough electricity to light a small bulb was generated by merely cutting apples in half and piling them on top of each other.

TAX RATE UP AT COURTENAY

Canadian Press
Courtenay, Feb. 28.—The city tax mill rate will be raised this year, probably to 1 1/4 mills, an increase of 1 mill, Mayor M. S. Stephens announced.

Mayor Stephens, who is also a member of the school board, said school estimates of $22,240, which have been passed, already call for an increase of 1 mill.

For the first time in three years, he said, there is no reserve fund of unexpended revenues from which trustees may draw to reduce requirements.

British Defence Plans Drafted

White Paper Outlining Three-year Programme to Be Issued By Government March 5

Associated Press
London, Feb. 28.—A picture of Great Britain rearmend and ready for defence in the next three to five years will be made public March 5.

Horror of the next war, fraught with such decimeters of the human race as poison gas which would wipe out whole armies and plagues spread by bacteria, were described in Parliament yesterday as publication of a white paper was announced for that date.

It is expected to review the reasons leading the government to the conclusion that the defence must be reconditioned and strengthened and give the details of the rearmament programme.

It will cost between £200,000,000 (about $1,000,000,000) and £300,000,000, according to various estimates.

No Economic Council Coming

Commons Votes Repeal of Bennett Measure Put on Books Last Year

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—A bill to abolish the Economic Council, passed by the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, was the first measure to go through this session.

It was proposed by J. F. Pouliot, Liberal, Temiscouata, Que., who said an economic council was useless. If the government was a good one there was no need for an economic council and if the government was not good it should be changed, he said.

An economic council was superfluous, said Prime Minister King when the repealing bill was in committee.

The measure to set up an economic council was one of the Bennett Measures passed last year. While the measure was on the books, no council members had been appointed.

Says Vancouver Schools Crowded

Condition Detrimental to Health and Studies of Children, Claims Trustee

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Feb. 28.—Overcrowded conditions in Vancouver schools is detrimental both to the health and studies of the children and additional accommodation, especially in secondary schools, is needed, according to George Cunningham, a member of the school board.

"The school board has for a number of years asked the city council to approve capital money to take care of this congestion," Mr. Cunningham said, "and last year asked the council to submit a by-law for school buildings."

"The council refused that request and it seems evident to the board that something must be done to bring home to the people of Vancouver the conditions as they actually exist in the schools, and if the parents are satisfied to leave things as they are," he said, "the responsibility to some extent is removed from the shoulders of the school trustees."

He said that many of the schools here had from 200 to 600 more pupils attending than the buildings were intended for.

He also said the cost of education in Vancouver had gone down steadily since 1929 and now was less here than in any other important city in Canada.

New Forestry Research Plan

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, yesterday evening announced appointment by the National Research Council of a committee to study research requirements in all branches of Canadian forestry.

Appointment of the committee follows within a short time a national forestry conference here at which numerous delegates expressed belief policies of reforestation and conservation should be adopted to save the country's timber resources from destruction by fire, insects and wasteful logging practices.

The committee will function as an associate committee of the Research Council. It will include in its membership representatives of the Department of the Interior and Agriculture as well as the Research Council, members of the forestry departments of each province, forestry faculties of universities, the lumber, pulp and paper and allied industries.

Forestry engineering societies, forest protective associations and the Canadian Forestry Association also will be represented.

BAGPIPES AT RIDEAU HALL

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Guests at Rideau Hall some time in the future may be piped to dinner to the skirl of the bagpipes if the hope expressed by Lord M.P. for New Westminster, fructifies. Mr. Reid, who for the last five or six seasons has treated members of the Commons to nightly programmes from his bagpipes, yesterday told of a conversation he had held with Baron Tweedsmuir.

The lusty British Columbia coast man suggested Lord Tweedsmuir might resurrect the custom introduced by the late Lord Aberdeen, when the latter was Governor-General, of having a Scots piper play the guests in at official dinners. Lord Tweedsmuir promised consideration and vowed the hope he might be able to do so in the near future.

New Westminster, Feb. 28.—Alfred Hardman, who spent nearly ten of his seventy years as superintendent of waterworks for New Westminster, died here yesterday.

Mr. Hardman was born in England and came to Canada with his parents when four years old. In 1886 he moved to Victoria, and a year later came here.

BENNETT ADDRESSES VETERANS

Ottawa, Feb. 28 (Canadian Press).—Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett yesterday evening addressed himself from the House of Commons to tell 100 members of the Ottawa South Africa Veterans' Association that "the path-way of Canada lies still within that league of nations which we call the British Empire."

The Conservative leader and former Prime Minister spoke at the association's banquet in observance of the thirty-sixth anniversary of the Battle of Paardeberg.

Many Students In Texas Ill

Associated Press
Dallas, Tex., Feb. 28.—Hundreds of Texas students and their teachers were under the care of physicians today as a wave of sickness spread over the state.

Doctors said common colds, mumps, scarlet fever, measles, influenza, pneumonia and spinal meningitis had developed to a communicable disease epidemic stage.

Nine spinal meningitis deaths were reported in the Texas area.

Wants Supreme Court Curbed

Congressman Monaghan Denounces Highest Tribunal of United States

Associated Press
Washington, Feb. 28.—Representative Joseph P. Monaghan, Democrat, Montana, critic of the United States Supreme Court, called on the American people yesterday evening to urge Congress to curb what he said was "power unlawfully usurped" by that tribunal.

Monaghan said in a radio broadcast that the court "wrote not glory but shame" in recent decisions on labor legislation.

"For every one liberty the Supreme Court has protected, if any, by its unlawful usurpation of the right to destroy acts of Congress, one thousand liberties have been destroyed," Monaghan said. "This usurped power, like the power of kings of old, is written in the tears of women, the blood of men and early consumptive graves for children."

Monaghan asserted the court in its decision invalidating the NRA, "wrote another page of shame in the sweat shops, in the mines, in the mills, and all those places where such decisions have destroyed workers' liberties and substituted judicial oligarchy for representative government."

His appeal urged voters to demand the present Congress to enact legislation prohibiting the Supreme Court from declaring acts of Congress invalid.

CRUELTY IN RUSSIAN JAILS

Leon Trotsky, in Exile in Norway, Says Political Prisoners Persecuted

By LEON TROTSKY
Former Commissar of War in the U.S.S.R., Now Living in Exile in Norway

(A Statement for the Associated Press)
Hoselonn, Norway, Feb. 28.—During recent months and weeks I have received extremely important news, from authentic sources, relative to the terrible regime against political prisoners whose fight towards the Soviet Union is beyond doubt and whose only crime is that of criticizing the ruling bureaucracy.

Friends have requested me by cable to let them know the truth of this matter.

A short time ago, for example, Dr. Anton Ciliga, former leader of the Yugoslavian Communist Party, arrived from the Soviet Union, where he had spent more than five years in prison and exile as punishment for his critical attitude towards the leadership of the Comintern.

In order to force his expulsion from the country Dr. Ciliga began a hunger strike. He was then fed forcibly and prevented from committing suicide. Thousands of expelled members of the ruling party are in similar circumstances, because they protested against the conditions of growing inequality, introduction of army officer titles, dissipation and autocracy.

ZINOVIEV IN JAIL
Zinoviev and Kamenev, close collaborators of Lenin, are now imprisoned for a terroristic crime with which they had nothing whatsoever to do. Kamenev, former chairman of the political bureau, is kept in a cell together with twelve others. Last year an additional five years was added to his original five-year imprisonment for his alleged participation in plotting a terroristic assassination of Stalin.

Accurate and absolutely objective information of Ciliga, Tarov and others prove increasing antagonism between the bureaucracy and the developing population. The bureaucracy is compelled to have recourse to the sharpest repressions, not in the interests of the Soviet state, but of its own self-preservation.

ESPIONAGE TRIAL IS DELAYED

Associated Press
London, Feb. 28.—A motion for a third postponement of the trial of Dr. Hermann Gortz, a German charged with violating the Official Secrets Act, was denied in the Old Bailey Court yesterday by Mr. Justice Greaves-Lord, who announced the hearing would start either March 2 or March 3.

The defence attorney, who was granted postponements January 9 and February 6, declared a further adjournment was necessary to bring from Germany a woman witness who would testify that the cipher code, one of the prosecution's exhibits, actually was used by Gortz during German law business "defending Communists in Berlin."

Assassinations For Patriotism

Associated Press Writer Who Knows Japan Well Describes Trends

The following story is by Victor Eubank, Associated Press staff writer, who for five years was chief of the Association's Tokyo bureau. Mr. Eubank traveled extensively in Japan and its possessions and was personally acquainted with the leading figures in Japanese life. Premier K. Okada and three other leaders were assassinated by a military group Wednesday morning.

New York, Feb. 28.—Assassination, while not a particularly fine art in Japan, has long been considered by the Japanese as a road to martyrdom and a profound act of patriotism. Killings and attempted killings in the island empire have been directed, almost exclusively, to the righting of real or imagined political wrongs. Murders for money, or in the commission of robberies and burglaries, have been relatively few.

Hara-kari, or the ancient custom of suicide by severing the abdomen with the family sword, has been virtually abolished in Japan. But the taking of one's own life as a penance for dereliction of duty, or for many other reasons, is still common and viewed as entirely honorable.

ETERNAL HAPPINESS

Cabinet, police and military officers have been the victims of assassins in all parts of the cherry blossom land. The killers seldom attempt to resist arrest or escape. Their religious faith makes them martyrs to the empire and, even though they are prepared to pay the penalty with their lives, they envision their immediate transformation into Shinto gods.

Attempts on the life of the Emperor or members of the imperial family seldom have occurred, although an attack was made on the present ruler, Hirohito, a number of years ago. At the time, as Prince Regent, he was returning from the ceremony of opening the Imperial Diet. The youth who fired at Hirohito was adjudged mentally unbalanced, but a number of police suicides followed the crime because of the "dishonor" connected with the lax guardianship of the prince.

M.P.'s Reference To Prince Is Scored

London, Feb. 28.—David Kirkwood, Labor M.P., was sharply criticized in the House of Commons yesterday evening for citing the royal family during a debate on a supplementary estimate for the Labor ministry. Pleading that vacations be allowed to unemployed persons in training camps, Mr. Kirkwood referred to the travels a few years ago in South Africa and Argentina of "a wealthy young man" who at that time was the Prince of Wales. The deputy chairman of the House interrupted him with the remark: "The honorable member must be aware we never discuss the royal family in this House."

Report Income Of Prison Official

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 28.—In addition to his salary as superintendent of penitentiaries, Brig.-Gen. D. M. Ormond receives $1,201 in pension, according to information given in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon to Miss Agnes MacPhail, U.P.O. Labor, Grey-Bruce, Ont. She was told he draws a European war pension of $204 and a militia long-service pension of $1,000.

For the fiscal year ended March 31 last Gen. Ormond drew a salary of $4,500. His traveling expenses were listed at $1,457.

Commons Votes Down MacInnis Motion Directed Against Orientals

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Despite a request by Prime Minister King that he withdraw his resolution to bar from Canada all persons denied full citizenship rights, Angus MacInnis, C.C.F., Vancouver East, forced a vote in the Commons yesterday afternoon and saw his plan defeated, 185 to 15.

Mr. King wanted the motion withdrawn, he said, because this was no time to launch problems that would embarrass Canada and other countries. In view of political violence in Japan, he added, it would be "most unfortunate for Canada and the world if this Parliament were forced to vote on Oriental exclusion," the aim of the resolution.

The Liberals and Conservatives voted solidly against the motion, while the Social Credit Group split. The resolution was aimed at Chinese, Japanese, Hindus and Doukhobors.

INQUIRY TO AID HOME OWNERS

Commons to Study Conditions Leading to Mortgage Foreclosures

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 28.—The House of Commons yesterday evening adopted a resolution urging study of conditions among owners of small homes, many of them forced by circumstances to see mortgages foreclosed and their dwellings sold.

The resolution, sponsored by Dr. Hermas Desautel, Montreal Liberal, encountered no opposition from members, while those discussing the situation of the people it was designed to help praised it.

Parliament was wasting weeks talking about foreign affairs and doing nothing to improve conditions of

PLACING OF RESPONSIBILITY

Hon. Fernand Rinfret, Secretary of State, said the government would accept the Desautel's resolution subject to the stipulation that the protection of small-property owners was primarily the responsibility of the provinces and municipalities.

He said the state should not act as a rival of the private builder, even with good intentions. He advocated the study of the problem called for in the resolution.

AT OTTAWA

WITH NEW MINISTERS AND MANY new members, Canada's Parliament has now been in session at Ottawa for three weeks. Short as is this as far as time for testing political metal goes, the correspondent at the capital of the non-party Financial Post—of Toronto—finds that already very definite trends of political ideas, as well as of party structure, are discernible.

As for the cabinet, Ottawa has found there is not the slightest indication of radicalism, using the word in the sense of new deals, social changes, inflation, and so on. Under Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Liberalism is seen as presenting to Parliament "a strong and able administration, and under the responsibilities of office is adhering strictly to the time-honored principles of thrift, economy and low tariff."

Coming to the Conservative opposition, it is pointed out that Mr. Bennett continues to be "the mighty atom of politics," having made himself "the storm centre of things to date and giving every promise of continuing to do so." Ottawa has been quick to sense the important difference between Mr. Bennett, omnipotent as Prime Minister, and Mr. Bennett, chastened by defeat. For him now as Leader of the Opposition, the crusade for a new order is over, with "not so much as a whisper heard from Mr. Bennett or his supporters for continuation of the reform programme of a year ago."

What does this mean? Ottawa's interpretation is that the Conservative party has seen the error of its ways and now fervently desires to regain its respectability among leaders of the business community. Retrospectively, the party sees Mr. Bennett's new deal, "as an utter and unqualified disaster to the party; and for the future, "the least said soonest mended."

Although the seven surviving members of the C.C.F. party are rated as outshining the average of the two big parties in debating strength and general ability, there is evidence of definite trends that are going to bring great changes to the C.C.F. It is apparent that the ten-year drive of Mr. J. S. Woods, the C.C.F. leader, to unite farmers and workers in a common party of reform has ended in failure—as "even the most partisan of the C.C.F.'s is about ready to admit that the ingredients won't mix." What does the future hold for the C.C.F. in the federal field? Ottawa appears to be quite definite that the "opening speeches by C.C.F.'s indicate plainly the party has made its choice and is now well on the way to be Canada's first outright Socialist party."

The capital has not quite overlooked the fact that there is actually another party—albeit a one-man party, that of the Reconstructionist, Hon. H. H. Stevens, who set out to lead the forces of righteousness to victory last October, but had to trudge back election night utterly alone, the sole survivor. But "much as he filled the public eye a year ago, and great as was the impact of his ideas and personality on the public," it is felt that Vancouver's Hon. Harry is definitely passing into eclipse. In the correspondent's opinion, Mr. Stevens "can scarcely be other than a voice in the wilderness, a negligible factor in politics." He is completely beyond the pale of the Conservative party under his present leadership, for against that leadership he committed the capital crime, the penalty for which is political death.

MEDICAL RESEARCH

FROM TIME TO TIME WE HEAR OF A cure for tuberculosis, cancer, and other sinister ailments to which the flesh is heir. The cure for cancer, so we are informed by Dr. Maude Slye, will come out of an exhaustive compilation and study of family medical records.

She herself has compiled thousands upon thousands of case histories of mice in her own laboratory. She can tell you exactly which mice in her group are susceptible to cancer and where such cancers will appear; so, we learn, it is reasonable to suppose that similar knowledge could be gained about human beings, if records were voluminous enough.

This simply illustrates the tremendous amount of unexciting detailed drudgery which is a part of scientific research. For many years Dr. Slye has been keeping records on cages full of mice. Out of this monotonous routine may come, in the end, one of science's most amazing victories.

The persistent research of such as Dr. Slye, eventually, will mean much for human kind. Publicity given to so-called cure-alls, unfortunately, does a great deal of damage.

CANADIAN MOTORCARS

FORMER CANADIAN TRADE COMMISSIONER J. E. Ray tells us that some of the leading British motorcar manufacturers intend to make a drive in the South African market, which suggests to him that "Canadian automobile manufacturers should make a note of this, and keep their cars well to the front in the Union."

The South African market, Mr. Ray observes, is of increasing importance, as the country is at present enjoying an exceptional run of prosperity. Reports from a number of reliable sources state that the standard of living is rising among the natives as well as among the white population. According to statistics, not more than one-eighth of the cars imported are of United Kingdom origin; consequently, the British makers are disposed to undertake a campaign with the object of commanding a larger share of the trade. Six years ago the United Kingdom contributed only 6 per cent to South Africa's purchases, whereas imports from Canada and the United States represented nearly 90 per cent. By 1934, however, the British makers had raised their share of the total imports to 32 per cent, and the Canadian and United States share fell to 66 per cent.

Apparently, the British manufacturers have profited by the knowledge that formerly the North American cars were preferred on account of design and springing. This handicap has now become almost negligible, due to the fact that the car manufacturers of the United Kingdom resolved to cater to the requirements of the users. Failure to grasp the significance of the latter point much earlier enabled United States manufacturers to get a good start over their British competitors by establishing a network of agencies, assembling stations, and by widespread advertising and publicity propaganda.

Canada, of course, must go after business—whether it be in motorcars, lumber, and all the various commodities which this Dominion produces on the farm or in the factory. Salesmanship counts in the end. It can not be said that this country will take a back seat to any other country in this regard.

OMINECA AND BURRARD

LAST SEPTEMBER 16 FORMAL NOTICE was served on the government of this province that Mr. Manson had resigned his seat in the provincial Legislature as the representative of the important riding of Omineca. On October 9 Mr. McGeer announced his resignation from the Vancouver seat of Burrard. Mr. Manson is now a judge of the Supreme Court of British Columbia and Mr. McGeer is a member of the Dominion House of Commons. The Constitution Act provides that election writs be issued in six months from the official notification of vacancies. A bill now is before the Legislature to give the government the privilege of calling the by-elections nine months from now, which means approximately a year and a half since notification of the resignations had been received.

One of the main pillars upon which the principle of liberalism rests is the fullest exercise of the franchise. The constituency of Omineca, from the standpoint of square mileage, is one of the largest in the province, and of the 2,400 registered voters in 1933, nearly 60 per cent—a considerable percentage—went into the ballot boxes and voted. In the constituency of Burrard there are practically 40,000 registered voters. In other words, if the government's amendment to the Constitution Act passes, as, of course, it probably will, a substantial number of citizens of this province will be without representation in their Legislature. It would appear to us that it would have been wiser on the part of the government if it had called the by-elections in accordance with the Act as it stands. It will not be surprising if the electors of Omineca and Vancouver Burrard object to the measure now under consideration.

PITY THE NAVAL AUTHORITIES WHO have to keep their establishments up to par in a world which scientific and technical development is constantly changing.

Rear Admiral Sir Murray Sueter told the British Parliament the other day that Britain's most prized naval bases have been rendered vulnerable by development of the airplane.

The fleet could be bombed out of Gibraltar by the Italians, he said, and the great home bases like Rosyth, Portsmouth, Sheerness, Chatham, and Devonport could be rendered untenable by German planes. On the development and fortification of these bases Britain has expended untold millions. Until recently, they were supposed to be invulnerable to any attack—hence, where fleets might lie in perfect security.

Now, according to this authority, they are nearly as defenseless as so many open roadsteads.

Naval science is infinitely more complicated than it was a generation ago. An admiral's lot these days is certainly not one of serene and unworried contentment.

Nazi propagandists in Germany were prompt to point out that a military upheaval in Germany like that which has just occurred in Tokyo is impossible. Everything in Nazidom, we are told, is serene. But many more persons were assassinated in the Nazi "blood purge" in Germany a few years ago than have been slain in this way in Japan in the last fifty years.

A Canadian Press dispatch from Ottawa yesterday sheds a bright light on the effect of the Canada-United States trade pact as it concerns the movement of live cattle. While there was no shipment of livestock to the United Kingdom last month, sales to the United States were worth $498,000, compared with $67,000 in January last year.

What Other Papers Say

ARGUMENTS AGAINST IMMIGRATION

The Australasian

To Australia the implicit appeal to co-operate with Great Britain in a highly necessary readjustment of the population of the empire comes with special force. It would be legally within the competence of the Commonwealth, as a self-governing Dominion, no doubt, to adopt the attitude that Australia has all the population she wants at present and does not feel disposed to embark upon any new projects of receiving migrants. British or otherwise. An economic paradise-in-miniature has been established, it might be said, and any substantial expansion of the population might disturb it. In any event, possibly it would be argued, a resumption of migration would have the effect of further overcrowding the labor market at a time when the after-effects of the economic depression are still being felt.

BETTER TIMES IN IRELAND

The Irish Independent

Last year the traffic receipts of the railways showed a substantial increase as compared with 1934; but to secure the prosperity of former times much better results are required. However, the improvement recorded is satisfactory. In regard to external traffic and trade the returns of the three principal Irish ports—two in the Free State and one in Northern Ireland—indicate a tonnage advance in each case. In Dublin a fresh record had been set up with a total tonnage of 2,568,574, or an increase of 8,607. In 1934 there was a big increase in foreign shipping, accompanied by a decrease in cross-Channel and coastwise traffic. Last year conditions were reversed, the increase having been in cross-Channel and coastwise tonnage and the decrease in foreign tonnage. The explanation of this change is that in 1934 foreign vessels of large tonnage arrived at the port with cargoes of Continental coal; while last year these supplies were obtained almost wholly from Britain and conveyed in vessels of smaller tonnage.

Across The Bay

It is the Opposition's day in the House—and it follows Mr. Pattullo's own motion in attacking Mr. Pattullo—but without serious casualty.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

STERN DUTY

HIS MAJESTY'S Loyal Opposition did its solemn duty in the House Thursday by telling the country frankly what it thought of His Majesty's Government. It was a grisly tale and it required three and a half hours of human speech in the telling. This opening major offensive by the C.C.F.—for the first time with the unanimous support of all independent sort, less in the style of the present Opposition than in the tradition of Mr. Bowser and of Mr. Pattullo himself.

It was very like Mr. Pattullo's Philippic against the Toimie Government. It must have reminded the premier, perhaps a little wistfully, of those dear old carefree days of Opposition. It became more and more like Mr. Pattullo as the weary afternoon dragged on. Finally it became Mr. Pattullo complete in every word and comma when the Opposition appropriated his own want-of-confidence motion, moved against the Toimie Government in 1933, and moved it all over again against its author.

The motion which Mr. Pattullo considered just in the case of the old government was not considered just in the case of the new one, and it was turned down by an unbroken Liberal Party. All this, however, did not occur without an ocean of oratory, some comedy, a good deal of moral indignation and the usual strange sound and word gymnastics gestures from Fernie. Altogether, a day of spectacle and innocent adventure.

SCHOLAR

MR. CONNELL, the scholarly gentleman who never sought office but found it thrust upon him, opened his tongue in his usual quiet fashion, without any hint of the deep manoeuvre ahead. Mrs. Paul Smith's gentle persiflage about Socialism he answered with persiflage even gentler and a kind of classical humor which usually goes over the head of the House. But as the Opposition Leader began to think of the government's promises and its performance, he warmed up. He was soon glowing with a flame which the House had not seen in him before.

Work and wages—the New Westminster Bridge—the delayed by-elections—the failure to appoint a highway or a public utilities commission—all were remembered. And when Mr. Connell described the provincial police raids on the houses of respectable C.C.F. leaders—invasions of old liberties that "stank in the nostrils of every true Britisher"—his voice rose in honest anger and his eyes flashed. But the great virtue in Mr. Connell's style of speaking is that, while it is never oratory, it never gets shrill and noisy. He is always the Christian gentleman, not much interested in personalities but fearfully earnest about principles.

His motion, informing the Lieutenant-Governor that the House regrets to say that Sir John Swales, leader of his government, evidently came as a complete surprise. There was Mr. Planta on the edge of his seat, a speech crying in his young boom for utterance. There were the whips with the day's programme all nicely arranged. And there was Mr. Swales, of the Opposition and the Delta, on his feet insisting on his right to discuss Mr. Connell's motion. No one could stop him.

INTELLIGENT

MR. SWALES spoke briefly, with a pawky Scotch sarcasm and a rich burr about the work of this Legislature which Mr. Pattullo had labeled the most intelligent in the history of British Columbia. The New Westminster Bridge, the S.P.A. (now dead but capable of revival); the failure to do anything about unemployment—these, said Mr. Swales, were samples of this Legislature's high intelligence. Yet it had served a useful purpose—it had educated the people and the results would show if and when the government held the deferred by-elections.

Yes, said Mr. Winch the elder, Omineca and Burrard would be written on Mr. Pattullo's heart like Calais on Queen Mary's. In metaphors a little mixed, which must have taken a good night's labor to compose, he called the Liberal Party a strange monster without verities, sired by Work and Wages, damned by all the electors and now in its second childhood. But when he started to say that Communists were just desperate human beings, Mr. Pattullo couldn't see that this had much to do with the record of his government and Mr. Connell's motion. Mr. Speaker could not either.

STRANGE VOICE

THEN CAME the voice from Fernie, that voice which speaks in a strange language of its own, often in words utterly without meaning in themselves but with a curious deep undertone, a certain intuitive sense which sounds through like harmony in music, or like the poetry of Gertrude Stein. Mr. Uphill really wanted to adjourn the debate, but the Premier wouldn't hear of it, for no government allows a want-of-confidence motion to stand overnight if it can be avoided. So Mr. Uphill went on, arms lashing, hands flying like flipper, words pouring out and with them thoughts which we have learned to distinguish.

Even though he joked with his good friend the Premier and admitted that his own insane oratory was appropriate in an insane age, there was a cry of real passion in Tom Uphill's voice as he told of police terrorism in his Crow's Nest Pass, at Corbin, that coal mining town of tragic history. Worse things happened down there, he said, than in Germany or Italy through the brutality of provincial police not fit to be dog catchers. He told how the police had driven a huge tractor through a crowd of women, and pleaded for the release of six miners now in jail in Nelson as a result of these disturbances.

OLD INDICTMENT

THIS LEFT Mr. Winch, the younger, little time to prove his contention that this government had indeed forfeited the confidence of the House. He sought to prove it by quoting in somewhat lurid detail Mr. Pattullo's twenty-five charges against the Toimie regime—royal commissions which produced no results, demoralized civil service, rampant patronage, a spineless policy of waiting, failure to provide public housing and remedial "extreme ineptitude."

All these charges made by Mr. Pattullo now applied perfectly to Mr. Pattullo himself, said Mr. Winch. He reached a new high of indignation as he read the old newspaper clippings and recited the records, and finally predicted that the Premier would have to vote for the want-of-confidence motion himself for very shame.

The Premier didn't. When the division bells rang there was no break in the Liberal phalanx, but no one expected it.

RENE LEDUC OF QUEBEC DIES

Canadian Press

Quebec, Feb. 28.—René Leduc, former newspaperman who as a Conservative unsuccessfully opposed Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1911, when the Liberal leader was powerful enough to win two parliamentary seats, died in a hospital yesterday. He was sixty-seven.

Mr. Leduc, founder of the weekly paper, Libre Parole (Free Speech), was named Conservative candidate in Soulanges in the federal general election of 1911, and was defeated by 142 votes by Sir Wilfrid, who also won his old seat of Quebec East by acclamation.

Some years later Mr. Leduc abandoned his newspaper and engaged in the import business.

The Country Doctor

A Novelization of Twentieth Century-Fox Film Starring the Dionne Quintuplets, Jean Hersholt, Dorothy Peterson, June Lang, Michael Whalen and Slim Summerville

CHAPTER V

When Dr. Lake's anxious voice came through the blizzard and across the miles into the home of Alex McMain, that Montreal radio "ham" launched into the most exciting incident of his youthful life.

But he met the test. Within a few minutes he had the Curzon Street Hospital on the telephone, and when Dr. Paul Lake arrived at the boy's home to resume the aerial conversation, the doctor's son, Tony, a young interne, was with him. And those two, father and son, were together as they drove furiously through the streets of Montreal toward the big office building that housed the headquarters of the trading company.

Hastily parking their car, they dashed into the building, and without so much as having removed their coats or mufflers, stood in hand before the great desk in the baronial office of Sir Basil Crawford.

Urgently Dr. Paul outlined the situation. Sir Basil fidgeted, hummed and hawed, muttered, "most irregular" and "really frightful weather conditions," and "quite sure our resident manager is entirely competent to handle the situation."

Dr. Paul grew grim. "Sir Basil," he repeated firmly, "if my brother says he needs serum immediately you may believe me that he needs it immediately!"

"Uncle John isn't exactly an alarmist, sir," broke in Tony.

Sir Basil fidgeted again, and worried out pompous words. "I assure you I'll look into it, doctor. But so irregular a matter takes time. For one thing, those settlers up there, strictly speaking, are not the company's responsibility, though I'm prepared to waive that point. But to send a company plane up there in this blizzard—well, I have to think of the pilot's safety and the company's property. Even if a plane could get through, which I beg leave to doubt, it might leave me open to criticism from the London home office."

With some asperity, Dr. Paul cut him short. "Will you send the plane?" he asked.

"I will," replied Sir Basil, fidgeting again, "as soon as meteorological conditions justify it."

"And that's the best you can do?" Dr. Paul asked, incredulously.

Sir Basil drew himself up, offended. "But what else," he began.

"I believe I can do better, sir," spoke up Tony, smiling.

"Please, Tony," began his father, feeling that defiance would get nowhere.

"Can you get the serum, Dad?" asked Tony, turning to his father energetically.

"Of course!"

"Then I'll fly it up myself!" he announced calmly.

Dr. Paul looked at his son, tinged with pride and fear in his eyes. "Do you think you could do it, son?" he asked quietly. "You know you haven't many hours, and nothing like this. It's a job for a real pilot, you know."

Father and son looked at each other for a long moment.

Then, "You're not going to fuss about it, are you, Dad?" asked Tony.

"No, son," Dr. Paul replied quietly, pride and anxiety struggling for mastery. Then he turned to Sir Basil and said without changing tone, "Good night, sir, and thank you very much indeed."

Together father and son strode from the office, leaving Sir Basil behind his desk, mouth agape as if trying to utter words that would not shape themselves.

In a moment their car was on its way to the flying field. By a stroke of luck, "Greasy" McAndrew, a mechanic who had often worked on Tony's plane, was lounging in the field office. Almost before he knew it he found himself in the hangar tussling up Tony's plane.

Spluttering and objecting, he had been persuaded to make the flight with Tony as mechanic. Soon he had the plane fueled. Tony stood by the cockpit. Father and son exchanged a firm, understanding handshake.

"Be very careful, son," was all Dr. Paul could say.

"I will, Dad," replied Tony, and climbed into the cockpit. At a signal, Greasy stood clear, the starter began to whine, the motor caught immediately, and the ship strained at the blocks as the snow whirled away beneath it in the slip-stream.

Greasy hung back. "But listen, Tony," he protested, "I'm gonna be married Saturday!"

"We'll be back Saturday!" shouted Tony.

Protesting, grumbling, Greasy climbed into his seat in the front cockpit. The blocks were loosened, the motor roared, and off across the field went the plane in a swirl of snow.

Dr. Paul Lake's eyes were hungry as they saw it lift from the field and slowly vanish in the blizzard.

The city and the St. Lawrence fell away beneath the plane, ice-breaking steamers cutting black crevasses in the frozen river to keep traffic open. The sky was a world of snowflakes as the plane headed off to the northward.

Tony had several times flown almost as far north as Moosestown on hunting expeditions during the summer months, but to do it in winter, in a driving snowstorm, and with skids instead of wheels to land on—that was something else again. They had nothing with them but an emergency lunch with a vacuum bottle of coffee—time had not permitted assembling an extensive kit. Just whatever they could pick up at the field. Suppose their motor failed, and let them down in some of the God-forsaken bush in northern Quebec? Even if they were not killed in landing on a stump, field or lake shore, what chance would they have of working their way to safety through miles of bush or the deep pine-and-birch woods in a blizzard?

Tony resolutely shut such thoughts from his mind, and brought it back with a jerk to the lakes, river courses and small settlements below. His Genevieve was easily recognizable through the film of snow, but he had to swoop uncomfortably low to be sure. Visibility was poor, due to the snow. Porcupine Lake he was sure of, North again, and he recognized the range of low mountains where he and his father had once hunted moose.

The motor hummed a perfect tune, but it was getting terribly cold and cramped in the cockpit. Hawtrey Landing, the Rive Gatchin, passed by below. Yes, he was right, they were near Moosestown. The trick was to pick up Lake Winnemack, and then about seventy-five miles north and west. Somewhere, just about there, lay Moosestown.

Once the motor coughed, and Greasy gave him a frantic signal of some kind, dived into the cockpit, and came up with a reassuring wave. Then it hummed along without a break. Strange, thought Tony; ought to be nearly to Lake Winnemack by now. But there was nothing. Nothing but the world of snowflakes, the dull roar of the motor, and the cold. Sometimes the driving snow would completely obscure the ground and they would be alone. Then a blast would clear the air and the dark pine woods below would stand out of the white blanket that was the earth.

A smooth, unbroken whiteness ahead told him it was a large lake. But to recognize it? Tony put the plane's nose down and skimmed closer to the lake's surface than a more experienced pilot might have been willing to do. That point, ahead, putting into into the lake! Was not that where they camped that time on the fishing trip? The plane scooped close to the point and rounded the turn at the end of the lake. Yes! That was it! The dead pine tree and the old fishing shack beside it. It was Lake Winnemack, all right!

Up went the ship, the lake fading out into greyness, and headed north and west. From here on it was a case of trusting the course, his eyes, and his luck. He had never been so far north before.

The flying snow was at times so thick that nothing whatever could be seen. Then it would clear suddenly, swept aside by a sudden change of air current, and the endless woods and hills would again be visible.

There was nothing to do but fly as near to seventy-five miles as he could guess, and then swoop down for a look, no matter at what risk.

Tony did it. By watch and gauge he made his guess, and made his swoop. No town. But there were traces of a trail-road winding along a creek through the hills. Follow nothing else to do.

Again a smooth white sheet without trees told of a large frozen surface of water. Tony turned, approached, and saw the clustered buildings of a town. Drawing nearer, a cluster of people could be seen about the church and general store. Motioning to Greasy to drop a note, Tony manoeuvred over the crowd. Tony's scrawled paper: "Which way—Moosestown—please signal." flustered them in the slip-stream. Banking and turning, Tony saw the note picked up, and a frantic signaling and waving in the group.

"Hang on tight!" he shouted to Greasy. "We're going down!"

The only open space was a clearing just outside the town. Turning again to get into the wind, Tony put the plane's nose down.

As he neared the ground and leveled off, he saw snow-covered stumps in the field, but it was too late. To a jounce, and a puff of powdery snow, the plane hit the field and creased and crashed.

Suddenly there was a grinding crash, the plane swung sharply around, lifted itself on one skid as if about to turn over and stopped, with one wing crumpled and smashed.

From Moosestown people came running, plowing heedlessly through the drifts, with horror, hope and fear in their hearts.

Belmont W.A.—The regular meeting of the W.A. of the Belmont Avenue United Church was held on Tuesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. C. Wharton, 2527 Forbes Street, a good attendance of members and visitors being present. The meeting opened with the singing of a hymn and the Scripture lesson read by Mrs. L. Benson, after which Mrs. Perry offered prayer. The reports of the treasurer and different committees were received, showing good progress in the work for the month. A new member, Mrs. Calderhead, was given a hearty welcome. Mrs. Perry invited the W.A. to hold the next meeting at her home. The meeting closed with the singing of a hymn, after which the hostess served refreshments, assisted by her daughter, Miss Cora Wharton.

Emmanuel Baptist W.M.S.—The monthly meeting of the Emmanuel Baptist W.M.S. was held on Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. C. R. MacNeill, the president, in the chair. Mrs. Wm. Russell conducted the worship service, speaking on the theme of Stewardship and emphasizing the value of the four-fold gifts of time, talent, service and love. Mrs. O. H. Cogswell had charge of the program, which was based on Medical Missions in India. This took the novel form of a blackbird pie which, on being opened, revealed each bird bearing a message for each member, thus ensuring that all took part in the program. The March meeting programme will be in the form of a pageant, written by Mrs. Bancroft. The study group will meet next Monday at the home of Mrs. Wm. Russell.

Mother Gives Her Life For Children

Chatham, Ont., Feb. 28.—Injuries suffered in the wreck of her two children from their burning home claimed the life of Mrs. Joseph Vanderweghe, thirty-five, yesterday. The Belgian-born housewife died in a hospital here where she had been rushed Wednesday after throwing the children into a snowbank as fire raged through the Vanderweghe farm home at Harwich, a few miles from Chatham.

MRS. W. ELLIS AGAIN REGENT

Municipal I.O.D.E. Return
Her By Acclamation; Mrs.
J. H. Gillespie Speaks of Trip

Mrs. William Ellis was yesterday returned as regent of the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., for another year, being elected by acclamation when the nomination was called for at the monthly meeting held in the headquarters.

Mrs. H. Catterall, Mrs. J. W. Cashmore, Miss Grimson, Mrs. J. E. Black and Mrs. J. T. Jones compose the nominating committee.

Final arrangements were made for the annual meeting of Municipal Chapter at the Victoria Truth Centre on March 26. A special executive meeting will be held on Monday, March 23, when the officers' and committee reports will be passed.

Mrs. Kyle Symons, convener of the entertainment committee, reported that plans had been made for the luncheon to be given in connection with the Provincial Chapter annual meeting here on April 22 and 23.

Mrs. Symons also announced that the recent "You're a Winner" tea had netted the sum of $18.50.

Mrs. E. O. Weston presented the financial report; Mrs. F. Beckett, educational secretary, gave an encouraging account of the work accomplished; Mrs. F. R. Wright asked that reports of the primary chapters be sent to her without delay in preparation for the annual report.

Mrs. George Miles, convener of child welfare, noted good work being done, milk and clothing being supplied to needy families. Mrs. F. E. Corby reminded the members of the annual meeting of the Girl Guides on March 10. Mrs. A. D. Whittier read the soldiers' graves report in the unavoidable absence of the convener.

Mrs. C. W. Plumb.

Mrs. Alana Campbell, convener of the League of Nations committee, suggested that some effort be made, through the Daughters of the British Empire, to arouse interest in the United States towards the League and its work.

Mrs. J. H. Gillespie, who recently returned from California, gave an interesting talk on her impressions of the reactions of the people of the United States to the death of King George. She spoke of the many tributes paid to his memory at services, through the press and over the radio, and of the other evidences of the genuine sorrow at his passing.

At the conclusion of her little talk, Mrs. Gillespie presented the chapter with a photograph of King Edward, to be hung in the rooms.

Rockland Park W.C.T.U.—Under the auspices of the Rockland Park W.C.T.U., a Francis Willard memorial parlor meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Whiteley, 1187 Yates Street, on Monday at 3 o'clock. The guest speaker will be the Rev. W. R. Brown. All friends interested are invited to attend.

T. E. LAWRENCE TOPIC OF TALK

Miss Dorothea Hay Reviews
"Seven Pillars" Before
"Y" Group

The baffling complexity of T. E. Lawrence was analyzed by Miss Dorothea Hay in the intensely interesting review of his book "Seven Pillars of Wisdom," given before the reading group of the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon.

Prefacing her talk with a sketch of the late writer, Miss Hay described him as a man imbued with the constructive ideal. He construed the revolt of the Arabs as a constructive move, one intended to build a house of freedom for a race that was in bondage. When that attempt failed, and because he felt that the Arabs through this revolt had been used merely to enhance British prestige, he undertook the responsibility of seeing that they would be fairly dealt with by the powers that be, this accounting for the successful effort he made in 1919 to secure their independence in Iraq, she noted.

Dealing principally with the first three and the last of the ten books in the "Seven Pillars of Wisdom," the speaker quoted from them to support her observations on the writer's unusual and versatile character. His sensitive appreciation of beauty, his brilliant philosophical mind, keen sense of humanity and justice, his amazing powers of endurance despite an extraordinary sensitiveness to suffering, his historic ability, expressed in his amazing and apparently impenetrable disguises, his spirituality, coupled with an outstanding skill in military tactics, were all touched upon.

Miss Hay also read some extracts from Captain Liddell Hart's tribute "T. E. Lawrence in Arabia and After."

Mrs. E. Tomlin, who presided at yesterday's meeting, announced that the last of the gatherings of the reading group would be held next Thursday, when Miss Rene Grant will review "Brazilian Adventure."

Desensitizer Gains Reported

Chicago Dental Society Says
Hartman Solution Has Definite Field

Associated Press
Chicago, Feb. 28.—The new tooth pain killer developed by Dr. Leroy L. Hartman, native of Victoria, B.C., and now of Columbia University, New York, was accepted by the Chicago Dental Society yesterday as having "a definite place in dental practice" on the basis of 23,776 cases reported by 8,000 dentists in forty-two states and Canada.

Dr. Edward J. Ryan, president of the society, announced that in 6,968 cases, reported by dentists answering a questionnaire during the recent seventy-second annual convention, there was complete freedom from pain.

The returns showed that in 7,291 cases there was partial anesthesia, while in the remaining 9,020 the desensitizer solution brought unsatisfactory results.

FIELD EXISTS
"The data from such a poll show that 64 per cent of the cases where the solution was used experienced from partial to complete relief," Dr. Ryan said, adding that "the Hartman solution has a definite place in dental practice."

Dr. Ryan said the solution had had comparatively limited use and "the society feels that definite conclusions can be reached only after long and wide use. As in case of other medical discoveries there is in the beginning a high wave of enthusiasm," he said, "and then a leveling off, after which only the test of time and usage determines the true value."

Dr. Ryan added that many mistakes had evidently been made in application of the solution, the instructions about which must be carefully followed.

MRS. M. E. ANGUS PASSES AWAY

Mother of Professor Angus
Dies in Vancouver; Pioneer of Victoria

Mrs. Mary Edith Angus, a pioneer resident of Victoria and mother of Professor H. F. Angus of the University of British Columbia, passed away yesterday in Vancouver where she had been a resident for some years.

Mrs. Angus was the widow of the late William Angus of Manchester, England, and of Victoria. She was born in Manchester, in 1850, and was nearly eighty-six years of age. Her father, Henry Dunkley, was for many years editor of The Manchester Examiner and was widely known in England as the author of "The Letters of Verax." He was a charter member of the Manchester Reform Club and wrote in his later years for The Manchester Guardian.

Mrs. Angus and her husband, a brother of the late E. B. Angus of Montreal, came to Canada in 1883 and settled in Victoria in the following year. She was one of the party which came from Victoria on the Yosemite to meet the first C.P.R. train at Port Moody in 1886. Passengers were picked up on the way to Vancouver.

In an account written at the time for The Vancouver Daily News, Mrs. Angus told the story of the negotiator on the train tactfully consoling the conductor, who was indignant about some disparaging remarks made by the spectators, by saying "never mind those people, they've never seen a train before."

A left widow in 1891, Mrs. Angus continued to live in Victoria until 1906 when she accompanied her son to Montreal and later to England, where she remained throughout the war. She returned to British Columbia in 1919—this time to Vancouver, where her son had joined the staff of the university.

Mrs. Angus is survived by her son, Professor H. F. Angus and by two grandchildren.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon in Vancouver.

BACHELORS AS PUBLIC ENEMY

Illinois Town Turns Over City
Offices to Girls For Feb. 29

Associated Press
Aurora, Ill., Feb. 28.—A "public enemy" list of Aurora bachelors was prepared today by Miss Helen Thompson, twenty-one, designated chief of police for Leap Year Day tomorrow when all city offices will be held by pretty, unmarried girls.

Chief Thompson announced she and her fifty feminine bluecoats would aim their anti-bachelor campaign particularly at Dr. John C. Murphy, fifty-two, long one of the city's most eligible unmarried men. She named him "Public Enemy" No. 1.

Regular city officials promised that for the occasion the girls' word would be law.

A proposed penalty for bachelors taken into court was immediate marriage, with the alternative of jail or a fine of one alk dress to be paid any disappointed suitors.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD USES NAUGHTY
WORDS TO WIN ATTENTION

When the mother complains of the naughty words her small boy picks up from the neighbor children and bewails his tendency to call her "nut" and "dumbbell," it almost inevitably develops that small boy is four years old.

Just why does the four-year-old break out in profanity and contemptuous assaults with the regularity of a disease? One reason undoubtedly is his increasing freedom to play with older children and his natural desire to imitate them in every way.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON

But the root of his tendency probably lies in his own need for such props. He is constantly being ordered about by the parents. He has to know to them, to the mark when they bark commands. He has few opportunities at this age to make an impression upon them.

So he exhibits his contempt for them by calling them names, in much the same spirit as his father—behind his back, of course—refers to his boss as the Big Cheese. To belittle a thing is clear-cut evidence of our innate recognition of its real superiority.

DON'T FOSTER IT

Much of this bombastic language and these demeaning terms are in the nature of an experiment, which would be abandoned sooner were less attention paid to them. To laugh at a child encourages him. To scold and punish him makes him turn angry and rebellious. To ignore the language or say, "We don't talk that way," is sufficient to keep him from knowing that he has upset or angered us. My leaflet, "Undesirable Punishments," will be helpful in learning how to deal with most of these situations. It may be had for a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope sent to this department.

Don't foster a repetition of profanity by encouraging it with parental attention. Then the child will find its use less satisfying, its power less noticeable.

TABLE TENNIS

Vancouver, Feb. 28.—Table tennis stars from Seattle, Portland, Yakima and Victoria are expected to enter the British Columbia table tennis tournament which is to be held here March 9 to 13.

Eight events are scheduled for the tourney, men's and women's singles and doubles, mixed doubles, men's and women's consolation singles and veterans' singles.

NOTED ARTIST DIES IN EAST

Carl Ahrens, Famed For His Tree Paintings, Dies at 73

Toronto, Feb. 28.—Canada's most noted painter of trees, Carl Ahrens, died at his home here yesterday. He was seventy-three years old, an associate of the Royal Canadian Academy and a member of the Ontario Society of Artists.

Born at Winfield, Ont., Ahrens studied painting here and in New York, and achieved a reputation early in the century when he went to live at Artists' Colonies at Woodstock, N.Y., and Rockport, Mass. During his six years in this group he founded the Roycroft pottery department.

One of his notable accomplishments was a series of thirty canvases on outdoor scenes for the late Gen. Mercer. The collection was exhibited in Toronto in 1911, and aroused favorable comments. The Mercer collection was invited to Belgium by the minister of fine arts for that country.

During the war Ahrens presented one of the best canvases, "The Willows," to the Canadian Red Cross Society. It was auctioned for $1,800. Several years after the war he lived near Galt, Ont., in the heart of some of the best woodland country in Ontario, where he painted trees.

He is represented in the National Gallery at Ottawa, the Glasgow Museum of Fine Arts, and many public and private collections in Canada, the United States and Europe.

"Monte Carlo" Night
Hilarious Success

The Beaux-Arts staged another of their popular social evenings at their new headquarters in the Crystal Garden auditorium last night.

A big crowd of members and friends entered thoroughly into the spirit of "Monte Carlo Night," as it was called.

Miss Helen Sweetland convoked this part of the programme, with Mr. Edmund Christopher, Mr. Kenneth Sangster, Mr. Jack Barnaclough, Mr. Kenneth Graham and Mr. B. J. Pangman in charge of the various wheels, horse racing, roulette, black jack and crown and anchor.

Two plays were presented in the early part of the evening, "Evidence for the defence," by Hope Denbigh, and "What Never Dies," directed by Miss Constance Hobbs.

Following the plays, Miss Enid Cole gave an adjudication. In the first play she commented on the part of Mr. William Pindley, who took the part of the villain, and of Miss Dorothy Gann, but spoke of their lack of eye work. This was also lacking in the work of the other actors. Others taking part in the first play were Mr. Brian Green and Mr. Gordon Fraser.

In the second play, Miss Cole spoke of the excellent team work of Miss Gladys Bailey and Miss Daphne Holmes. Miss Bailey sustained the characterization throughout and her dialect was excellent, while Miss Holmes was spoken of in her part as "a good listener." Both these young performers had appreciated the importance of eye work. Others in this play were Miss Dorothy Kennedy and Mr. Peter Saxton-White.

YOUNG PEOPLE MEET LEADER

Rev. R. H. Hibbert Discusses Problems With Tuxis and Trail Ranger Groups

Problems akin to the work of Tuxis and Trail Ranger groups were discussed at a dinner meeting in the Y.M.C.A. yesterday evening when twenty-five leaders of religious education groups conferred with Rev. R. W. Hibbert, secretary of the Religious Education Council for British Columbia and Alberta.

Mr. Hibbert said he believed the training of youth was the greatest task of the world today. It was work which should be elevated to the highest plane, and he was pleased to note many denominations were working harmoniously with the education council.

Young people's work was showing an increase throughout the Dominion, he said, attributing this to the fact that the depression had brought closer contact between young people. He told an interesting story of this type of work in the Yukon Territory, between 1911 and 1919.

GIRL MUSER FEARED LOST

Mary Joyce Five Days Overdue at Tanana on Long Trail

Associated Press
Fairbanks, Alaska, Feb. 28.—Fears that diminutive Mary Joyce, twenty-seven-year-old dog musher, may have met disaster somewhere along her wilderness trail, were felt here last night as she was reported five days overdue at Tanana Crossing, a telegraphic communication station 150 miles southeast of here.

She has not been reported since she mushed out of Fairbanks Landing, Yukon Territory, February 9.

The comely Taku Lodge mistress, from southeastern Alaska, left Fairbanks with her five dogs and a lone Indian guide named Jimmy Allen. The temperature at that time was 48 degrees below zero.

The 300-mile route from Fairbanks, on the northwestern side of Klondike Lake, to Tanana Crossing is over a sparsely settled, frozen wilderness. There are no roads, no villages, and only a few native huts. Several ice-caked rivers and streams cross the route.

Miss Joyce left Taku December 22 for Fairbanks, 1,000 miles due north. She is travelling over the long inland route, over the mountains, and down the Yukon watershed region.

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Loans to provinces under the Dominion Housing Act of 1919 amounted to $23,508,189, with all but Alberta and Saskatchewan participating, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. On December 31, 1935, a total of $16,112,801 had been repaid and $7,395,387 was outstanding from six provinces.

Ontario, largest borrower under the act, has obtained $9,350,000, all of which had been repaid at the end of last year. No payments of interest or principal were in default, the return stated.

British Columbia got $1,701,300 under the act, and the entire principal amount was still outstanding at the end of last year.

Other provinces had made reductions in the principal.

LEFT FORTUNE TO VEGETARIANS

London, Feb. 28.—A rich woman who loved animals has left a fortune for building and maintaining rest homes or guest houses for vegetarians and "humane food reformers."

The legacy is in the will of Mrs. Septima Durrant Guppy, of Wimbledon, who died last November leaving £74,241. She directed that after a number of personal bequests the residue of the estate should be used in forming a trust for running the homes.

Mrs. Guppy left £2,000 to anti-vegetarian organizations.

Business Women Mark "International Night"

Dr. H. R. Anderson, Guest Speaker, Touches on Status of Working Women Throughout World; Local Officers Installed

"International Night," that was marked yesterday evening by business women in twenty-three countries of the world, was observed in Victoria by the Business and Professional Women's Club when the members assembled at the Y.W.C.A. for the annual dinner and installation of officers, held in conjunction with the International event.

"The Economic Status of Women" was the subject specified to be observed on all programmes for the "International Night," and as dealt with yesterday evening by Dr. Henrietta Anderson of the Provincial Normal School was enlightening and witty.

HIGHLIGHTS OF ACHIEVEMENT
From a general report on the work accomplished by the business and professional women of the world, Dr. Anderson cited what she considered highlights of achievement.

In Austria, theoretically all occupations were open to women except judge, notary public and minister. For skilled professional workers, salaries were theoretically equal and the same was true for state and municipal offices.

In Canada, the attitude of officials and business men towards women in jobs was favorable. Economically the Federation of women of the world, Dr. Anderson cited what she considered highlights of achievement.

British Women Off To Ethiopia

Lady Decies Organizes Unit, Equipped With Zipper-fastened Uniforms and Gas Masks

London (Special Correspondence)—Five British women are now on the eve of the most gallant struggle of their lives. Within a few weeks they will be in Ethiopia—right in the war zone—nursing the sick and wounded.

They expect to be working day and night—often at the peril of their lives. The task before them is stupendous, for there are at present no trained nurses in the entire war zone.

Gertrude Lady Decies is organizing the expedition and will lead it to the front.

For several weeks the women have been learning to ride and shoot under Lady Decies's training. Now all this preliminary work is over and they are ready for anything.

"In answer to these warnings," Lady Decies told me, "I have received a letter from the British Minister in Addis Ababa. She is sticking to her post. In conjunction with the Empress of Ethiopia, she is organizing the Ethiopian Red Cross with which we shall serve."

"If I give my life out there, I shall be glad if it helps to alleviate suffering."

ALL OVER 35
"Besides the nurses who will make up my first unit, I have thirty nurses—fully trained in every respect—on a reserve list."

"Each can shoot. Each can suffer short rations. Each can sleep under the stars—and none of us is under thirty-five."

"The only thing we need now is money. Subscriptions are coming in and to every person who sends a donation, however small, I am planning to send a souvenir."

Lady Decies is to be the first to go to Ethiopia. She is to fly out to make final arrangements with Lady Barton. Directly these are complete, the nurses and a veterinary surgeon will go out from England to join her.

They are taking a yet so that the horses and camels shall not suffer needless agony if they are hurt. He is taking a humane killer and special surgical supplies with him.

ZIP-FASTENER UNIFORM—AND GAS MASKS
The nurses will each take a gas mask and they will wear a khaki uniform designed by Lady Decies to meet Ethiopian conditions. It consists of a blouse and skirt, riding coat and breeches. Zip-fasteners are used so that the skirt can be worn over the breeches with ease and then whipped off in an instant when preparing to ride.

The entire hospital staff was only eleven—and so Lady Decies or "Sister Molly," as she was then known—worked day and night.

From there, she went to the Port Louis Hospital in France. She was there during the second Battle of Ypres. In 1916 she was wounded by a shell and forced to return home as invalid.

By the end of the year, she had succeeded in getting recorded to the

STAGE ROMANCE NEARING END

Another stage romance will end in Reno in the near future, Mary Ellis, above, opera singer and film actress, announcing that she soon will take up residence in the divorce capital to seek freedom from Basil Sydney, English actor-producer. The couple married in 1925 in New Milford, Conn., and separated three years later.

Though still unwell, she worked for eleven months under shell fire, as the hospital encampment was between the Bulgarian and Russian armies.

After this ordeal, Lady Decies went to St. Petersburg where she nursed the sick and wounded throughout the Russian Revolution and suffered considerable hardship.

Her courage earned its reward. She was given twelve medals for her war work, among them the coveted French Victoria Cross for women.

Now, eighteen years later, she returns to her great work.

QUEEN VIEWS SON'S NEW HOME

Great Britain's newest royal bride—the Duchess of Gloucester, who was married last November—has now moved into her new home. It is the Royal Pavilion, a single-story, but delightfully roomy house, at Alder shot.

Queen Mary has been her first visitor. She motored down from London accompanied by Princess Royal, her daughter, King Haakon of Norway and the Earl of Harewood, Princess Royal's husband.

They stayed only two hours, but after having luncheon in the Pavilion's historic dining-room, the Duchess of Gloucester showed Queen Mary all over the house.

Although only a single-story building, the Pavilion has fifteen bedrooms and numerous reception rooms. The servants' quarters and kitchen are in a separate brick building.

The view from its windows is famous for the Pavilion stands on the top of a pine-and-heather-clad hill. It was built for Queen Victoria and was first occupied by her in the summer of 1852. It has since been a great favorite with the Royal Family.

The Duke of Gloucester already knows it well. He used its stable and garage when he was stationed in the nearby barracks as an officer in the Tenth Hussars. Now he is to live there so that he can fulfill his new appointment at the Staff College, Camberley, nine miles away.

Although some of the furniture in the Pavilion has been handed down from Queen Victoria's day, the Duchess of Gloucester has been able to give her artistic talents full scope. She has had many of the rooms redecorated and an army of workmen have been carrying out structural alterations to modernize the building. Central heating has been installed among other improvements.

Hepburn Stirs Ontario House

Thieving By Officials and Graft Under Henry Ministers Exposed

Toronto, Feb. 26.—Because by what he termed the "grapevine method" an employee in the treasury department knew that ex-Premier George S. Henry was not paying his gasoline bill to the province, this man was allowed to retain his post after it was discovered he had stolen $2,000. Premier Hepburn charged, attacking the former Henry government in the Ontario Legislature.

He also charged inefficiency and lack of administrative ability to Leopold Macaulay, former minister of highways, and linked this condition to the self-destruction of another man in the department who, he said, had confessed to stealing $1,300.

"The treasury department was reeking in graft and corruption," he declared, citing the cases.

One employee, he said, was reinstated and given a $2,000 bonus by a special order-in-council passed one month after a government shortage of $2,500 was known. Mr. Hepburn also charged.

Still another charge involved the Leader of the Opposition. According to Mr. Hepburn, the province was offered $200,000 of tax-free bonds at par. They refused, but the bonds were later bought at 98% by the then premier's broker, who sold them to the province at 108%.

"I'd like to know who got that $16,000 premium," remarked Mr. Hepburn.

"I said early in this address that I had underestimated the absolute inefficiency and lack of administrative judgment of the previous government. I would like to prove that now," Mr. Hepburn began.

"Among the savings offices there was one located at the corner of Bay Street and Adelaide Street in Toronto. This was one of the obligations that we had to assume. The rental for the first three years was $14,000 a year, for the next two years the rent for this office was $15,000 a year, and for the next five years, $17,500. These it was necessary for us to pay $160,000 rental for a single office. Absolute inefficiency."

"When we took office we found that no inspector from the treasury department had visited an office with $7,000,000 on deposit in two years."

OTHER IRREGULARITIES

"Is it any wonder that I charge the ex-provincial treasurer with inefficiency? Was it any wonder that we found such conditions after we did make a proper audit? I could tell you more."

"The highways department for example. When you find things wrong at the top you find things wrong at the bottom."

"An employee in the department misappropriated $2,000. Was he fired? Oh, no. Yet the former attorney-general rises in his seat in righteous indignation because a justice of the peace may have done something wrong."

"Yet right under his nose, and he has a pretty good nose for investigations, $2,000 was stolen. And the employee was reinstated."

"This man knew that the premier was not paying his gasoline bill, so the 'grapevine method' worked down lower in the department."

"When we held an audit we found that the 'grapevine' had continued. There was another in the department who had stolen $1,300 by fraud and forgery. When he found that the auditors were going to find him out, anyway, he made a full confession. Then he ended his life."

He said that many other irregularities were found. "When I took over the office of provincial treasurer I found that it was one of the most inefficient in all the government service. It was reeking with graft and corruption. And why shouldn't it be?"

"One employee, appointed upon his recommendation of ex-Attorney-General Price, what did he do? He stole $2,385."

"Now shall I show you how the 'grapevine' method worked in this department also? Another junior in the department stole $179.80."

"Still another in the department, realizing that those above him were stealing, thought that he would do some stealing, too. He stole $2,594."

GIVEN $2,000 BONUS

"One employee, a friend of the then attorney-general, stole $3,300. Was he prosecuted? In August, he resigned. In July, a full month after his theft was known, they actually passed an order-in-council allowing him $2,000 for special services rendered."

"Just think! A thief had a special premium placed on his dishonesty. Former Minister of Highways Leopold Macaulay arose. 'Will the premier tell me more about these thefts by the man in my department? I know nothing of them.'"

"Don't blame you for trying to get from under," said the premier. Continuing, he said, on August 21, twenty-one days after he had resigned, two months after his thefts were known, the employee was said to have retired due to poor health."

"According to a letter of recommendation. The letter says that he was a man of great value. It says that he gave his best services to the province. He took all he could. The letter, the premier said, was signed by E. A. Dunlop."

Ex-Attorney-General Price: "The man was of outstanding ability."

"Undoubtedly," said the premier. "He was appointed on my recommendation," said Mr. Price. "He came to us well recommended."

"He left the same way," said the premier.

Mr. Price attempted to explain the letter of recommendation had been given by the late Mr. Dunlop just to help a man when he was down.

"Yes, but the fact remains that you look upon yourself to adjourn the

MAN WHO SUED ORDERED TO PAY

Robert Tindal Mackay, who sued L. Batchelor for $950 automobile crash damages, found the tables turned on him when Judge Lampman not only threw out the suit, but ordered Mr. Mackay to pay Mr. Batchelor $48.75 and costs.

Mr. Batchelor was driving his motor car along Heywood Avenue. Mr. Mackay, on a bicycle, rode off of a park path on to the road, D. S. Tait and W. P. Marchant, lawyers for Mr. Batchelor contended.

The judge ruled that Mr. Mackay was in the wrong, as he had been illegally riding his bicycle on a park footpath on which bicycle-riding is expressly forbidden by city by-laws. He pointed out that posts were erected at the ends of the path to keep such traffic off. Therefore, Mr. Batchelor should not have to pay Mr. Mackay's doctor, hospital and bicycle costs and for his mental anguish and physical suffering, estimated by P. J. Sinnott, his counsel, at $800. Mr. Batchelor should be compensated by Mr. Mackay for the damage done to his motor car.

FOR WHOOPING COUGH THE SUPREME REMEDY IS—BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE—ACTS LIKE A FLASH—

House yesterday to censure the attorney-general for an alleged irregularity committed by a poor little justice of the peace. Mr. Hepburn flashed back.

"I just wanted information," Mr. Price began. "Well, you're getting some information you don't like," the premier replied.

"Yes, and I'll get more information," the member from Parkdale vowed. "Yes, you bet you will," vowed Mr. Hepburn.

"WHO GOT THE $16,000?" "Let us consider a succession duty case involving the Leader of the Opposition who was then provincial treasurer."

"There were $200,000 duty free bonds in this estate and the executor offered them to the government at par. The government refused and a short time later they were sold by the executor for 98%.

Just a month and a half after that, Griffiths, official back from Griffiths, Fairclough and Norworthy, which are the brokers of the Leader of the Opposition."

"Those people have on occasion sold me bonds. What has that to do with the treasury department?" Mr. Henry demanded. "Well, the treasurer was offered those bonds at par. He refused; they sold for 98%.

A month later the treasurer bought them for 108%, at a premium of $16,000. Now I want to know who got that $16,000."

RECOVERED $660,000 Mr. Hepburn charged.

Mr. Hepburn then introduced the Spencer estate of London into the argument, pointing out that Mr.

Price had claimed his government had investigated it and found nothing. "But we recovered $660,000 for the province," was the premier's claim.

"When I came into power I collected lots of money like that, but I didn't advertise it in the papers. I don't think it is proper," Mr. Price objected.

"Well, I'm going to advertise one now that neither you nor the former Minister of Highways will like to hear about," Mr. Hepburn replied.

He then recalled that the day before W. A. Baird (Cons. High Park) had charged that lawyer-members of the government had resigned from their firms so that their partners could accept government business.

"I don't know how closely my honorable friend was connected with the firm of Moorhead and Macaulay, but last year when I mentioned the fact that we were opening up a certain estate, the ex-attorney-general proposed we would lose money on it. We collected $350,000."

"That's nothing but an insinuation and I'm glad you brought it up," shouted Leopold Macaulay, jumping to his feet.

"There are plenty of lawyers in this House who know that when trustees are appointed to look after an estate the work is practically all done by the trustee. The National Trust Company was trustee in this case and took the responsibility."

"Yes, and blamed you for not disclosing the facts," Mr. Hepburn flashed back.

"That's not true," Mr. Macaulay flared.

"It isn't? Well, that's funny, for

I have a letter here from Mr. Rowell that says so. The fact remains that the treasury benefitted by $350,000 in this case," Mr. Hepburn returned.

Frank C. Hall, who in his student days was widely known as a middle-weight boxer, is returning to Victoria to enter partnership with his father, Henry C. Hall, K.C.

From Victoria High School and College Frank went to the University of British Columbia, from where he was graduated with the class of '31. He read his law in Vancouver, being articled to J. W. & B. Farris, K.C. in the Law Society examinations at the end of his first year he headed the province.

In the final law examinations just before he was formally called to the bar, he passed first in the province as solicitor and ranked second in the barristers' examination results. During the last two years he has been practising in Vancouver in partnership with D. F. McNeill and R. T. Baker.

LEGAL TANGLE OVER PATIENT

Responsibility of Mental Case Is Declined By Oak Bay Council

A case which promises legal argument between the City and Oak Bay was before the latter council at its meeting yesterday in considering a mental patient, recently removed to the Essondale Mental Home, who had only been an Oak Bay resident for thirteen days.

The unfortunate instance was that of a twenty-three-year-old woman who was taken to the mainland this month by Oak Bay after examination by the proper authorities.

The woman was a domestic servant who had just completed thirteen days' continuous employment in Oak Bay after being out of the municipality for four and a half months. During this time she was employed in the city.

She had been employed in the Oak Bay home to which she returned last year from June to September. From the middle of September until February she was in the city.

Under the Municipal Act the municipality where a patient has her permanent abode at the time of admission to the home shall pay the government fifty cents a day for her care. On the assumption the patient should live another forty years without being released from the home, Oak Bay would have to pay $7,200 if the municipality acknowledges responsibility of the case.

Pending settlement of the jurisdiction Oak Bay has written the home authorities a letter declining any responsibility.

WALK AROUSES MUCH DEBATE

Proposal For Pedestrian Promenade on Beach Drive Before Oak Bay Council

Whether or not the proposed Beach Drive sidewalk should be laid on the east side or the west side of the road continues to be one of the most debatable issues the Oak Bay Council has considered for some time, considering the number of letters it has received on the subject.

At yesterday's meeting the council received another half dozen letters, including a petition, to add to the collection raised at the last meeting and for every one who favors the walk on the west side there appears to be one who advocates the east side.

Yesterday's petition, containing eleven names, gave the "west side" a slight edge, however. Those signing the petition were: The Victoria Golf Club, Premier Pattullo, J. H. Hinton, Helen Hepburn, Ada H. O'Halloran, E. M. Shandley, Beech Hotel, H. M. Menston, A. D. Barff, D. W. Baillie and M. McInerney. H. R. Beaven favored location of the walk on the east side. This was supported by Mrs. E. Gerrard-Mason. The council has not quite decided just how the issue will be settled. The plan calls for location of the walk on the east side of the road in order that those using it would have the vantage points for sea views and such location would eliminate dangers of pedestrian crossings.

The letters, for and against, have all been referred to committee of the whole council and due consideration will be given the claims when the financing of the proposal comes before the estimates committee.

No Complaints Of Flooding Waters

During this week's thaw and heavy rains there were no complaints of any consequence from any section of the municipality, due to flooding. T. Watt, works superintendent, reported to the Oak Bay Council yesterday.

The new Bowker Avenue drain handled the water volume well, while Bowker Creek was never at any time less than six inches from the top of the creek bank. There was no overflowing of the creek, and any backing up of the stream did not occur in Oak Bay, Mr. Watt said.

New York City first tried traffic control by light signals in 1918. Policemen turned the lights on and off by means of levers.

We Drivers

A Series of Brief Discussions on Driving, Dedicated to the Safety, Comfort and Pleasure of the Motoring Public. Prepared by General Motors

No. 6—POWER AND SPEED

Most of our motor cars will go so much faster than we ever care to drive them; that no doubt people often wonder why so much speed is built into them in the first place. Of course, automobiles aren't built with the idea of pleasing the eyes of the engineer or the salesman. They're built to suit the men and women who are going to own and drive them. And there are certain things that people do want in their cars. It happens that some of those things are of such a nature that when the engineers provide them, an ability to go fast just naturally results.

For instance, nearly everybody likes to get going as promptly as possible. Now, that's a matter of the power we have in our engine and how our car is geared.

Then there's the business of hill-climbing. That may not mean as much in some localities as in others, but cars have to be built to suit us—wherever we may live and wherever we may want to go.

Engineers tell us that they could build a fairly low-powered car that would pull up the steepest hill. But if they did, they would have to gear it so low that when we got over the top and on to a level stretch, we could only go crawling along at a rate that wouldn't satisfy even the most conservative drivers.

But perhaps the most important reason for having our power what it is in modern cars, is a matter that many of us have never considered. We all know what happens to us, when we, ourselves, are going at high pressure all the time, either physically or mentally. A person can work twelve, fourteen or sixteen hours a day, but we know we get along best when we don't tax our last reserves of energy all the time.

In the same way, anybody who has ever run machinery knows that if you keep it going at full capacity and full speed day-in-and-day-out, you're just multiplying the chances of a breakdown, sooner or later.

And that's how it is with a car. By building in the ability to run at high speed, engineers make it practical to run at reasonable speed. If our car can go seventy, eighty or maybe even more miles an hour, then it won't have to strain to go thirty-five, forty, or somewhat faster if circumstances demand. So we can drive it along at sensible speeds hour after hour, day after day, without over-working it.

When we stop to think about it, lots of things are built with that added safety margin. Elevators in our office buildings could carry far heavier loads than the weight of all the people they can hold. So could modern bridges. The steel girders under our trains—in fact, any number of things we depend on day-by-day—are much stronger than they really have to be. They all have that extra margin of protection.

So with our cars, what we have to remember is that speed is simply a by-product of power. We can use that power wisely, or we can use it sensibly and get better performance and dependability as the result. Manufacturers can't decide that. It's all up to us.

OAK BAY SIDEWALKS

To the Editor:—This argument about which side of the street a sidewalk should be laid on Beach Drive is far from amusing to taxpayers living south of Bowker Avenue, where children attend the Willows School, inasmuch as there is no sidewalk or road of any nature from Bowker Avenue north to the school. Children are forced to plough the deep in mud and water to attend school and if sidewalks are needed anywhere surely here is the place to start. It would lighten many Oak Bay taxpayers' shoe bills.

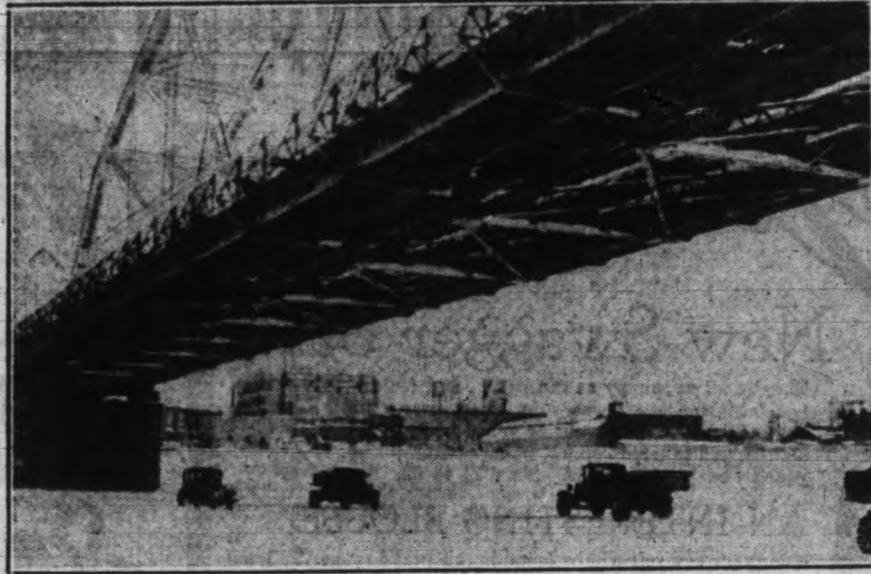

Why not utility before beauty in this case?

WITNESSES OF FAITH

To the Editor:—One and all at last night's meeting listened intently to the "Word of Power" as it came from the speaker on "The Christian's Witness to the Truth of His Faith." For this writer, at the back of his conscious thought, was the implication in the last paragraph of Miss A. J. Claude's letter in yesterday's paper, "Under Divine Control," with an undercurrent of hope that she was also present. For we at the First Baptist Church (a large and reverently thoughtful gathering) were left in no manner of doubt as to "The Rock" on which Our Blessed Lord is building his One Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church. Peter himself, divinely inspired, had just given whole-hearted witness to his belief therein. The rock of that declaration of His personality, divine and human, ever-present, persistent through all time. The essence of those who are in a commentary and in criticism, both textual and higher, would fill many issues of your excellent paper.

But thank God we don't have to waste time in any theological inquiries to find out His meaning. If we are Christians His interpretation is plain to us day by day in our own lives. For we have made the great surrender—ourselves to Him—and on that surrender follows illumination. We don't have to study or seek for God. He comes to us, His present personality in our hearts, with that perfect peace we have through His atonement, and mystically in that Holy Sacrament in which we show forth His death—that supreme sacrifice once for all offered and made for us, until He comes.

Those who have given themselves to God get up early, and get a move on. They may, as Bishop Gore has it, hear the devil say, "Turn over," but they hear too Beville sounding from their commanding officer's bugles, and they obey joyfully. For they have in their heart a moving thing, His Grace, or as it has been called, "God in Action." Having that, they know they have certified and guaranteed to them the essentials of their faith. Therefore, they have joy also, for they do not have to worry as to any earthly primacy of authority; they draw straight from the fountainhead.

Their whole time and engrossing care is for the thing that counts, namely, so to live that their love for God and their fellow man is seen and known of others, and glory given to God. YOUTHFUL INANITY

To the Editor:—The raucous shouts of the builders of our modern Tower of Babel have become so meaningless and multitudinous that one hesitates nowadays to publicly comment on any of the strange creeds poisoning the radio ether or fouling the printed ink in the press. But the puerile garrulosity of three belligerent youths (belligerent, that is as far as notes is concerned), Messrs. Harknell, Thomas and another whose name I have gladly forgotten, is so grotesquely dangerous, that one feels, for the sake of others still in the nursery, something should be done about it. These three young bombasters have cast themselves in an heroic mold. They would save the empire from what ails it—though they are not quite sure what that is! And they are going to do it, quaintly enough, by a strict adherence to Christian principles (some are born that way and some have Christianity thrust upon them—pity the poor heathen!) and reliance on our traditional democratic morality—or was it slogans?

Well, well! And all because "an eminent Britisher" said recently that "the foundations of the empire are based 'unquestionably' on 'unconditional' loyalty and allegiance." Or course there is no escape from logic of that sort. One doesn't question the authority of "an eminent Britisher," whomsoever he might be. One just takes it! As the aborigines of India, Africa, Australia—or the original "reds" of North America. And "loyalty and allegiance" must be "unconditional" because our doughty triumvirate of youthful champions have so willed it! June divine!

Tradition is their god—even though tradition inflames racial hatred and encourages international war. Well, an "eminent German" philosopher, Karl Marx by name—once said that "tradition laid like a mountain on the minds of the living" and although it is doubtful if it could find much of a resting place, as far as our three young embryonic warriors are concerned, this statement is generally true of us all. Racial things, His Grace, or as it has been called, "God in Action." Having that, they know they have certified and guaranteed to them the essentials of their faith. HEALTH INSURANCE

To the Editor:—With those who criticize in detail the proposed Health Insurance Act for the province of British Columbia there can be no quarrel, for it is only by the consideration of such criticisms that any defects in the act can be uncovered and the way laid open for satisfactory amendments. But such persons who are opposing the whole principle of state insurance are leaving unanswered a vitally important question concerning a factual condition which we are facing today.

To approach this question indirectly, it will be generally conceded, I think, that the better the health of each of the inhabitants of the province the better it is for the general living conditions in the province. It is upon this principle that for many years all governments have enacted laws for the greater sake of the people's health. Such have been, for example, those governing conditions in factories, those relating to the contents of patent medicines and the regulations for the notification and control of infectious diseases. And it is hard to imagine that anyone today would suggest that a government was overstepping its function by passing laws of this character.

Granting that the care of the public health is within the functions of the state, consider this fact, which is a matter of immediate record: That the people as a whole are failing to receive such medical care and hospitalization as would keep them in a condition of maximum health; not because adequate facilities are unavailable, but because the people on the whole are unable to meet the financial demands which the use of these facilities involve. The wealthy, of course, are able to command any necessary care; but for the rest of the people the very poor are provided for by free services the burden of which must finally be carried by the average individual already unable to pay his own bill for sickness and accident.

In view of this fact, is one not justified in asking of those opposing the principle of state health insurance this question: What alternative proposal can they make, which will offer a practical solution to the problem facing the average person of how he shall keep himself in as good a state of health as possible without incurring "debts beyond his means."

That is the question—arising not in theory, but in the conditions of everyday life—which must be faced; and any discussion about the amelioration of the consequences of sickness or accident which does not tend towards a practical solution of this matter is so much waste of time.

BILL ON POLLS GOES TO HOUSE

Premier Pattullo Introduces Measure to Defer Two By-elections

First reading was given by the Legislature yesterday to the bill providing for a six-months' postponement in the Burrard and Omineca by-elections.

Premier Pattullo introduced the measure, which provides that the provisions of the Constitution Act with regard to the two seats shall be waived and the writs issued within six months after the new bill goes into force, which puts the final date for the polls roughly at the end of November.

Hon. K. C. MacDonald, as acting Attorney-General, introduced a measure to limit the periods in which various types of civil actions may be commenced.

CURFEW RINGS AT LADYSMITH

Ladysmith, Feb. 28.—The curfew by-law was finally passed by the city council in session Wednesday evening. From October to April children under fourteen years of age must be in their homes by 8 o'clock in the evening, and by 9 o'clock during the remaining five months of the year.

Norman Gragon and Maurice Doumont, representing local independent truckmen, protested the regulation for increased license rates and compulsory liability insurance, effective March 1.

Mr. Gragon stated the proposed rates would increase the outlay for each motor truck in public haulage approximately $80, an entirely prohibitive amount for small trucking concerns. It meant altogether more than $100 annually for each public truck, while private vehicles, such as oil trucks, were only affected to the rate of $4 a year more than their present rate.

The truck operators to transport miners from Ladysmith to Reserve Mine would be called upon to pay an extra $500, and the stage carrying the school children from Saltair would be similarly affected. Private cars taking passengers from Ladysmith to work at Chemunasi, it was pointed out, would be subjected to extra impositions of about $130 yearly.

The council will join other upland organizations in protesting the proposed move.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

Aorangi, grandson of a Maori chieftain, sat on the great man's shoulders as their canoe cut through the South Pacific waters. Ahead they saw a new land and, rising high above it, like the little boy above his elders in the boat, a mighty snow-capped mountain.

And so the first Maori tribesmen to set foot on the east coast of New Zealand named this mountain "Aorangi." Now in honor of Capt. James Cook, famous explorer and first white man to arrive there, the highest mountain in New Zealand is called "Mount Cook."

It is 12,549 feet high and is the centre of winter sports in that land. The mountain is pictured on the 3½ penny value of New Zealand's recent pictorial issue. On either side of the illustration is a border of "Mount Cook" stamps, native to that region. They really are not little, but large white butterscups. The stamp is shown here.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

THIS SEEMS to be the season for comebacks. But Battalino is staging one; Jack Sharkey is spouting off again; Max Baer is boasting and predicting he will be on Joe Louis's trail before long; and Jimmy London, the Gorgeous Greek, is back on the mat.

Only the last of these has a ghost of a chance to refute the old theory. London, the little, statuesque warrior of wrestling, was the greatest showman in the mat business in his prime. Many believe that the handsome performer still is at his peak; that his defeat by Danno O'Mahoney in Boston last July was "one of those things" brought on by the need of a new face under the crown that adorns the dome of the mat king.

Again there is need of a new face under the kingly chapeau. The big boy from Ireland, brought over and belittled to the pinnacle, is beginning to look like a new contender for the wrestling bug.

They do not care who is champion as long as he can get in there, grunt and groan louder than anyone else, strike pictures that appeal, beat his manly, hairy chest a la Tarzan, and generally conduct himself as a Greek god on the loose.

O'Mahoney is none of these. The stout Irishman is content to throw anyone and everything they toss into the ring with him, and let it go at that. But that does not suit the mat bug. He wants to see near-murder committed right before his very eyes; and the former Irish trooper does not deliver satisfactorily, although, lately, he has caught on to a few tricks.

The fact that London is a showman with a flair for all these tricks argues for a successful comeback. As ex-champion, the perfectly-built Greek is just as much a drawing card as he was as king. And his backers—they still are legion—think it will not be long until he again rules the ring. However, canny James really is not letting anyone in on his plans. He eased his comeback in Detroit the other night, tying Jules Strongbow, an Indian, into so many knots that he looked like a pretzel.

But the funny part of this performance was that London, a major league performer, declined to stage his return with a class D performer. Jim is a big-game wrestler, and the bugs in the big towns want to see him in there with O'Mahoney, Dusek, Browning and the rest.

It may be that Jimmy knows that O'Mahoney is just too good for him, but that would not keep a wrestler from yammering for a title bout and the gold that goes with it. And it may be that the Greek is timing his actual return until conditions are found more propitious by the big-time wrestling promoters, such as Jack Curley in New York, Ray Fabiani in Philadelphia, Paul Bowser in Boston, Jim Mullens in Chicago, and Lou Duro in Los Angeles. In any event, get ready to listen to the band.

ROSS-WALLACE BOUT IN DOUBT

Referee Difficulties Threaten Cancellation of Fight in Vancouver

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Feb. 28.—The Vancouver Boxing Commission flatly refused yesterday to allow an outside referee for the Barney Ross-Gordon Wallace fight here on March 11, and unless promoter Jack Allen can succeed in getting Ross's managers, Sam Pian and Art Winch, to agree to a local referee the battle will probably be called off.

Police Chief W. W. Foster, chairman of the commission, said they had perfect confidence in Vancouver referees, and that bringing in an outside referee was not in the least necessary.

Allen has notified Pian, but Ross's managers continue to demand an outside referee, and declare there will be no fight unless their request is granted.

Ross, world welter champion, and Wallace, Vancouver holder of the Canadian welter crown, are billed to meet in an overweight non-title bout.

LEAGUE WILL STAGE EVENTS ON MARCH 21

Big Delegation of Vancouver Performers Expected Over For Contests

Programme To Be Announced Later

Swimming stars of Victoria and Vancouver will meet on March 21 in the scheduled British Columbia championship gala at the Crystal Garden, Frank Hyslop, president of the Vancouver Island Swimming League, announced today.

Date of the event, which for a time was in doubt, was finally set today. Drafting of the programme will be completed at a future meeting of the league, but at least twenty championships will be staged at the local pool.

Officials of the league announced approximately two dozen aquatic stars from the mainland would be over for the meet, which will be open to all amateur swimmers in the province. In order to come under the sanction of the British Columbia section of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, it may be necessary for either the Y.M.C.A. or the Pacific Club to lend its name to the gala, but the event will be strictly a league fixture arranged by those groups.

Certificates will be given to winners of championships. That action was adopted last year when the competitors were anxious to take part in the championships, but insufficient funds were available to give first, second and third place finishers medals.

Arrangements for the meet were completed with the cooperation of A. H. Cowlishaw, manager of the Crystal Garden. While personnel of the visiting swimming teams could not be determined at this early date, officials in charge of the event expected Vancouver clubs to be represented by the best swimmers in that city. Phyllis Dewar, Marion Moffatt and other nationally-ranked performers in the women's lists, together with Bobby Hooper and other mermen of outstanding repute will be included in the team.

Withdrawal of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club from the league will prevent swimmers from that organization from participating in the event.

LOCAL PROSPECTS

A strong lineup of local performers including Molly Wallis, the Pacific Club's junior girls' Canadian record-holder; Monica Trump, Canadian women's breaststroke champion, of the V.A.S.C., together with her teammate, Bobby Moss, promising junior, are expected to enter.

The Y.M.C.A. will probably base its chief hopes for laurels on Harris Munzie, four-footer, Don Davidson and several less experienced performers who have been showing improved form.

The gala will be the last big meet of the winter indoor series here and will complete the home-and-home events arranged by Vancouver and Victoria to bring performers along for major events this summer.

Canadian Women Golf Play Set

Canadian Press
Toronto, Feb. 28.—The Canadian Ladies' Golf Union announced yesterday the venues and dates of its two national championships. The open tournament will be held at the Royal Montreal Club during the week of September 14. The close tournament will be played at Beaconsfield during the week of September 21.

TOKIO GIANTS REACH 'FRISCO

Associated Press
San Francisco, Feb. 28.—Sixteen players of Japan's only professional baseball club, the Tokyo Giants, arrived aboard the Chichibu Maru from Hongkong yesterday for their three-month barnstorming tour of the Pacific Coast and Midwest.

Except for two new players, the Giants are the same strength as last year. Coast league clubs picked up Jimmy Horio and Victor Starlin when the Giants played here last season.

Glen Cunningham Defeated Again

San Francisco, Feb. 28.—Norman Bright, high school teacher from Sunnyvale, Cal., defeated Glenn Cunningham of Kansas, the world's record holder, in the one-mile feature race of San Francisco's indoor track meet here yesterday evening.

The time was 4:16.3, considerably slower than Cunningham's great record of 4:06.2.

CANADA WINS HOCKEY GAME

Olympic Team Defeats German Squad 9 to 0 in Hamburg

Hamburg, Germany, Feb. 28.—Canada's Olympic hockey team yesterday evening scored its post-Olympic victories in a series of exhibition games in Europe, trouncing a German team 9 to 0.

A crowd of 10,000 cheered the speed and polish of the Canucks, who gave Germany's two best players, Rudi Ball and Jasenke, little chance of displaying their skill.

Hugh Farguharson of Montreal led the scoring spurge with five goals. Bill Thompson tallied twice. Alex Sinclair and Kenny Farmer scored the other two goals.

After the game, one of the German officials commented: "Hamburg has been shown real ice hockey played by the best hockeyists in the world."

FOUR GAMES ARE CARDED

Two First and Two Second Division Soccer Matches Scheduled Tomorrow

Victoria's football fraternity today looked hopefully toward the resumption of league play tomorrow, but the condition of playing fields left doubt in their minds. Four games are scheduled, two in the first and two in the second division.

If the rains persist the grounds may be unplayable. The teams have rested for four weeks.

Equilmut, who top the league race by two points over Victoria West, is slated to contend with the third-place Saanich Thistles. The game is billed for the Athletic Park.

W. J. Cull handling the whistle, Dr. Poynter's Wests are scheduled to do battle with the Victoria City eleven at Heywood Avenue, with T. M. Robb officiating.

GOOD BATTLES
Saanich Thistles are expected to give the Dockers quite a run before admitting defeat.

An excellent game should ensue between the clubs at Heywood Avenue. Only two points separate them in the standing.

Victoria West second division squad is scheduled to tackle Equilmut at Bullen Park, with Dave Swan refereeing.

At upper Beacon Hill Park Victoria City is slated to meet Saanich Thistles also in a second division encounter, with J. C. Dows as referee.

All kick-offs are billed for 2:30 o'clock.

The line-ups follow:
Victoria City, second division—Carr, Knapp, Anderson, Coutts, Robertson, Alexander, Colman, Sage, Tregalla, Hess, Hodgkinson, Robbins, O'Connor, Woolcock and Painter. Players are asked to be at the Veterans of France by 1:30 o'clock.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

BULL RUN MONUMENT STANDS IN THE MIDDLE OF THE BRIDGE ACROSS BULL RUN CREEK, AT THE SCENE OF THE FAMOUS CIVIL WAR BATTLE.

BICYCLES HAVE THE RIGHT OF WAY OVER BOTH MOTORISTS AND PEDESTRIANS THROUGHOUT DENMARK.

EARLY DAY TELEPHONE OPERATORS WERE BOYS—GIRL OPERATORS HAD TO BE SUBSTITUTED BECAUSE THE BOYS LIKED TO ARGUE WITH CUSTOMERS.

THE MAN WHO SHUNNED KNOWLEDGE—DESCARTES—FAMOUS FRENCH SCHOLAR, MADE AN HONEST EFFORT TO FORGET ALL HE HAD LEARNED—BUT INSTEAD HE BECAME ONE OF THE MOST LEARNED MEN OF ALL TIMES!

Strange as it seems, the great thinker, Descartes, tried to forget what he had learned. It was not that he did not want knowledge, but rather that he disagreed with the methods then used in schooling. He believed that the old system was wrong in that it demanded of students the learning by rote and acceptance of the teachings of so-called authorities.

This system, he held, did not encourage constructive thought and, it was further pointed out, the "authorities" to whom students looked for learning did not always agree among themselves. Thus it was that Descartes, when he finished his formal schooling, threw aside his books and tried to rid his mind of whatever he had learned. He wanted his mind open and clear to receive the truth as he found it instead of the truth as others variously believed it to be.

With this as a starting point, and with a strong natural aptitude for mathematics, Descartes eventually became one of the most learned men of all times. He is called the father of modern philosophy and his contributions to many sciences were invaluable advances.

When the telephone was a novelty and subscribers were few, it was the practice to employ boys as operators. Boys were satisfactory as far as the mechanics of operating were concerned, but temperamentally they were unsuited. Early day male operators quarreled so much with customers that girls had to be hired to replace them.

Wolverines vs. Aces, Point Street Under eighteen.
Saanich Cougars vs. Wimpy's Capital, Lower Rock Bay; referee, Jennings.

Roughriders vs. Red Wings, Stanley Avenue; referee, O'Connell.
All games commence at 2 o'clock.

GOLDEN MILLER RATING DROPS

Grand National Winner in 1934 Slips From Favorite Ranking

London, Feb. 28.—Miss Dorothy Paget's famous Golden Miller refused to jump two days ago in the Newbury steeplechase and today the bookmakers dropped the nine-year-old bay gelding from the favorite's position for the Grand National.

Golden Miller is quoted today at 100 to 8, whereas before the Newbury 1935 National, winner, was 6 to 1.

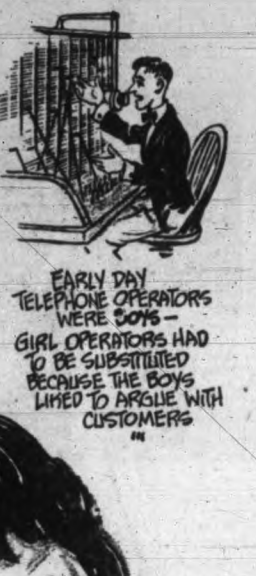

Others at the low end of the Grand National odds, the famous four and a half-mile steeplechase to be run March 27, include Avenger at 100 to 1, Castle Irwell and Belled Hero at 15 to 1.

For the Lincolnshire Handicap at Lincoln, March 25, Law Court has been established favorite at 10 to 1, with Prick a close second choice at 100 to 1. Screamer is given 18 to 1 and Tow Blower 18 to 1.

New York, Feb. 28.—The effect of the military uprising in Tokyo upon Japan's bid for the 1940 Olympic Games was a subject of speculation in United States athletic circles yesterday, coincident with the arrival in New York of Count Henri Ballet Latour, of Belgium, president of the International Olympic Committee, en route to the Orient.

Olympic Leader Favors Orient

Count Henri Letour Voices View Japan Entitled to 1940 Games Irrespective of Recent Assassinations

Associated Press
New York, Feb. 28.—The question of where to hold the 1940 Olympic Games is a simple one to Count Henri Ballet Latour of Belgium, president of the International Olympic Committee.

"It is politically necessary to go once to the Far East," he said today as he carried here en route to Tokyo to appraise Japan's plans for seeking the 1940 games and to inspect the facilities for holding them.

The recent assassinations and revolt in Tokyo and the antipathy of some European countries toward sending their athletes so far from home disturb Count Latour not at all, he said.

"The Olympics are an international thing. They never have been held in the Orient. The Japanese bid is the first ever received from that area. European countries which do not wish to compete in Japan can keep their teams at home. They do not have to attend. But it is up to the nations themselves. I am absolutely neutral."

As matters stand now, Tokyo's chances of landing the next Olympics are rivaled mainly by the bid of Helsinki, capital of Finland. United States officials understand growing opposition has developed among European countries to the idea of undertaking another long-distance athletic trek. Finland has proposed as a means of gaining support, that the 1940 winter sports be awarded to Oslo, Norway, with the main events taking place at Helsinki during the summer.

Projected informally, in the background, is an idea that New York might seek the 1940 games as a follow-up feature to the World's Fair planned here in 1939.

Count Latour, a genial, ruddy-faced sportsman who in his younger days was a well-known steeplechase rider, took occasion to pay tribute to Germany for its conduct of the Winter Olympics at Garmisch-Partenkirchen.

"Every condition that we made was fulfilled," he said. "The German handled the winter sports marvelously well."

Another eastern heavyweight, in the person of Paul "Bomshell" Boesch from Brooklyn, is billed to make his bow before local wrestling fans tomorrow evening when he climbs through the ropes at the Tillicum gym to tangle with Chief Thunderbird, powerful Saanich Indian. In the semi-wind-up on Richardson's weekly mat show.

Boesch has appeared in a number of bouts in coast cities and has established a good record for himself. Thunderbird is well liked by local fans and should give the visitor quite an interesting time. The route of the bout is billed for five eight-minute rounds.

MAIN EVENT
The main eight ten-minute round event will bring together Bob Kruse, rough and ready Oregon matman, and Wee Willie Davis, Norfolk pacifier. They are both in the vicinity of the 260-pound mark, are fairly well matched and will no doubt give the fans plenty of thrills. Last time these two lads met, Kruse lost a decision to the Norfolk man after a hectic battle. Kruse will be out for revenge this time and Wee Willie will have to watch his step.

George Hardy and Vic "Legs" Hay, young local matmen, will tangle in the preliminary tussle on the card that is scheduled to last four five-minute rounds.

The Victoria-Varsity McKechnie Cup rugby fixture, scheduled for Vancouver tomorrow, was again postponed late yesterday when officials of the Vancouver Rugby Union informed the local authorities grounds were unplayable.

HOOP TOURNEY IS UNDER WAY

Keen Game Seen as Northwest Olympic Trials Start in Seattle

Associated Press
University of Washington Pavilion, Seattle, Feb. 28.—In a thrilling first game, the Northwest A.A.U. and Olympic trials basketball tournament got under way yesterday evening as the Tacoma Wheelers-Osgood quintette defeated the Spokane Desserts' All-stars 32 to 31 in the closing seconds of play.

Tied at thirty-one all in the last minute of play, Lloyd Williamson, Tacoma forward, was fouled by Holsten, Spokane forward, and sank the winning point from the free-throw line.

The Aberdeen Oilers, rated a favorite in the tournament, ran away with the second game of the evening by swamping the Mount Vernon Parkers 58 to 27, largely through the deadly shooting of Johnny Fuller, left forward, and Walt Fallor, right forward.

At half time the Oilers held a commanding lead of 28 to 17.

SETS SCORING RECORD
With a thirty-point total, Fuller, former University of Washington player, was believed to have established a record for northwest tournament play. Fuller gathered twelve points. For ten minutes of the game Fuller was not playing.

Green Lake Field House disposed of the Edmonds A.C. 42 to 28 without trouble in the third game. The Green Lakers scored all their points through field goals as they missed every free throw they had. The Edmonds team had tough breaks in finding the basket, the ball rolling off the hoop several times on easy crumple shots. The score at half time was: Green Lake 20, Edmonds 18.

A big battle is in prospect at Sheffield, where Sheffield United enter Tottenham Hotspurs. The Londoners hope to have Whatley at full-back and Alford on the half line. Two northern first division clubs will lock horns in the remaining cup tie. Middlesbrough will visit Grimsby, and if its luck holds good hopes to seal its diamond jubilee year with a trip to Wembley. Grimsby is following its usual training routine. Smaller will play at outside left instead of Lewis, who dislocated his collarbone.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE
Glasgow, Feb. 28.—Unconcerned, for the present at least, over the English Football League's ultimatum to cancel fixtures for the remainder of the season, Scottish League officials have taken no action and scheduled games remain unchanged.

PATTY BERG ON U.S. GOLF TEAM

New York, Feb. 28.—Patty Berg, the Minneapolis girl golfer, achieved international stature yesterday when she and seven others were named to the Curtis Cup team which will meet a British women's team in Scotland May 6 and 7.

At eighteen, freckle-faced Patty becomes the youngest United States feminine internationalist in history. As a member of the team she takes her place with Glenna Collett Vare, Charlotte Glutting, Mrs. Opal Hill, Marion Milley, Mrs. Louis Cheney, Mary O'Grutt, Crews and Mrs. Frank Colclough.

The biennial series was launched at Wentworth, England, four years ago, and resumed at Washington in 1934. The United States won the cup at the inaugural and successfully defended it two years ago.

NEW ZEALAND SCORES WELL
Island Cricketers Put Up Good Total Against Marylebone Side

Auckland, New Zealand, Feb. 28.—After two drawn matches with the touring Marylebone Cricket Club team, New Zealand made a fine start in the third unofficial test match today. When play closed for the day the home players had scored 363 for nine wickets.

The New Zealanders opened poorly and the wickets were down for eight runs. C. J. Elmer and I. B. Cromb, in an aggressive display, made 74 in eighty-eight minutes. Elmer hit thirteen fours.

The final unofficial test will be played at Christ Church next month.

SEEK TO DELAY
TRAPS ACTION
 Reviewal of Sooke Case With
 B.C. Inspector Urged

Efforts to delay action in regard to the cancelling by the Dominion Government of fish-trap licenses at Sooke were made yesterday evening at the session of the district command of the Canadian Legion.
 A wire was sent to Hon. Joseph Ennis, Minister of Fisheries, requesting that, before the government takes any definite action, J. A. Motherwell, Vancouver, Dominion Inspector of Fisheries for British Columbia, meet representatives of the company concerned and employees to hear the case against closing the plant.
 Many ex-service men, directly or indirectly, made their living through the fish traps at Sooke, it was pointed out. The closing of the plant would have its effect on ex-servicemen engaged in canning and other enterprises associated with fish trapping. Members said that contrary to government statements but 2 per cent of the fish caught were captured by traps.
 It was said that if the traps were done away with it would provide greater scope to United States interests.

A request from the City of Victoria to pay half the costs of constructing new wooden steps from the road down to Gonzales Beach was referred to the estimates committee of the Oak Bay Council yesterday.

MURDOCK IS NAMED HEAD
 Business Sessions of Canadian Infantry Association Concluded Today

Lieut.-Col. H. W. Murdock of Truro, N.S., was elected president of the Canadian Infantry Association at the close of the morning session of the convention at the Empress Hotel today. He succeeds Lieut.-Col. Brooke Stephenson of Victoria.
 Lieut.-Col. A. E. Potts of Saskatoon; Lieut.-Col. A. M. Thomas of Toronto; and Col. J. E. Pinault of Quebec were elected vice-presidents. These officers, with Lieut.-Col. W. E. Baker of Sherbrooke, Que., Lieut.-Col. S. Lett of Vancouver and Col. R. J. Gill of Brockville, Ont., will form the council.
 Lieut.-Col. W. F. Hadley of Hull, Que., was re-elected honorary secretary-treasurer.
 The business of the convention, which was terminated at 1 o'clock this afternoon, included the report of the president, Lieut.-Col. Stephenson; report of the honorary secretary-treasurer, Lieut.-Col. W. F. Hadley; and the report of the delegates to the Conference of Defence Associations.
 Discussion centred chiefly in modernization of the Canadian Militia where funds are available.
 It was indicated in the convention that practically every militia unit was doing much more than it was required or paid to do. Where the Department of National Defence was allotting money for the training of 100 officers and men in a unit, such a unit was making widespread sacrifices and providing training for twice that number.
 Other reports indicated that the various militia units were suffering from lack of modern equipment.
 It was stressed that the Canadian Infantry Association was not a body of militarists, but, on the other hand, was a peaceful organization, not inviting aggression, but keen for adequate defence of the country if endangered by attack.
 Such an organization was considered in the light of national insurance.
 With the business sessions over, the delegates this afternoon witnessed a demonstration at Work Point Barracks, followed by a reception in the Garrison Officers' Mess.
 The annual dinner will be held at the Empress Hotel tonight.
 Appointment of H. H. Beamer, Barrington as notary public, E. G. Laurie of Anyox as a coroner, and H. R. Lane as a commissioner for Colebrook Dyking District, were ratified by the provincial government today.

 The postponed meeting of the B.C. Historical Association will be held this evening in the provincial library at 8 o'clock. Dr. K. Lamb will speak on the subject, "Some Pioneer B.C. Journalists and Journalists." E. F. McTavish will take the chair.
 Two more offices in the Pemberton Building were entered on Wednesday night when thieves took $47.75 from the V.O.N. office, according to a police report. The sum of $6 in stamps was taken from the Victoria Pile Driving Company's office, while G. D. Tyson reported an attempt made to pry open his desk.
 The following players will represent Esquimalt in the first division soccer match tomorrow: DeCosta, Joe Watt, Cook, Edwards, Boyd, Hay, McAllister, Stewart, Eddie DeCosta, Worwick and Bishard. Substitutes will be Jock McBay, Barnswell, Marsh and Evans.
 A portion of the Oak Bay School Board's 1935 estimates were approved by the municipal council yesterday when the trustees' complete budget was received. The council sanctioned the extraordinary expenditure of $625 for purchase of a lot to add to the Willows School grounds, and office equipment. The ordinary expenditures of $91,338 were laid over until the meeting of the council's estimates committee.

EARLY ASSENT TO POLLS BILL
 Measure Deferring By-elections Draws Fire of Liberal Members

In order to "ave the measure made law before the final date under existing law for issuing the writ for Omineca, early assent to the government's bill to defer by-elections in that riding and Vancouver-Burrard will be sought in the Legislature, it was learned today.
 According to calculations made today, the Omineca writ should be issued by March 23 and since the House will not be ready for prorogation by that time, it is expected the Lieutenant-Governor will be requested to make a special trip to the assembly to give assent to the measure.
 The bill provides that the by-election writs must be issued within six months of the date the act commences. The election will be a most arbitrary and automatic act, said Mr. Murray. In denying these electoral districts representation in this House, the Premier will raise around him a hornet's nest of trouble. By refusing to grant immediate exercise of franchise he places the entire province into the hands of extreme radicals who will find in this action material with which to organize unrest.
 "By this action he further alienates those members of the Liberal Party who have been calling for a provincial convention. He causes the entire province to suffer because in this he also offers an affront to Dominion Liberalism. J. Gray Tugson, Liberal M.P. for Cariboo, and Mr. G. G. McGeer, Liberal M.P. for Vancouver-Burrard, who were elected in the federal field by votes from the riding, are now disfranchised and would be compelled to repudiate Victoria dictators of the type which now presents itself."
 After referring to the lack of adequate coastal defences on the British Columbia coast, members of the district command of the Canadian Legion at yesterday evening's meeting adopted a resolution calling for the immediate establishment of a fully equipped and modern airport near Victoria.
 The resolution will be forwarded to the Dominion convention of the Legion, for endorsement. It was stated that if the resolution was adopted in passing the Dominion convention it would be forwarded to Ottawa.
 "That money was turned over to us by people on relief," said an official of the organization this morning. "These people only pay what they can for our services and the money stolen was made up of payments of 3 cents to $1 from the poor. We need funds to carry on our work and the loss of $47 is felt by our organization. We hope that those who took the money will find some way of returning it to us."
 The selection in class 100 for instrumental trials: Senior in the Victoria Musical Festival syllabus should read "C Minor," first movement only, by Mendelssohn, instead of "C Minor," first movement only, by Mendelssohn.
 Deals which will mean the construction of two new city homes will be recommended by the lands committee to the City Council at its next meeting. One is the sale of a property while the other involves a land exchange. On the former a single family dwelling will be erected, while the latter will be the site for a duplex home.
 "She Stoops to Conquer," this year's play of the students of the University of British Columbia, will be presented in Victoria early in May under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club. It is a number of years since the University Players' Club has appeared in Victoria and this year's offering is particularly suitable for production by such a group.

Obituary
 WALLACE WELDON SCOTT
 Rev. F. Comley conducted the funeral service this morning over the remains of Wallace Weldon Scott, who passed away on Wednesday. Beautiful flowers covered the casket. The pallbearers were: R. A. Thomas, E. J. Johnson, R. L. Fell and A. Walker. Interment was in the soldiers' plot in Royal Oak Burial Park.
 THOMAS DUNCAN
 There passed away yesterday in St. Joseph's Hospital, Thomas Duncan, aged fifty-one years, of 910 Gordon Street. He was born in Hamilton, Ont., and had resided here for twenty-five years. He was a member of Columbia Lodge No. 2, Independent Order of Odd Fellows. He is survived by a sister in Hamilton.
 The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Sands Funeral Chapel. Interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.
 EDITH CHARLOTTE JAMES
 Funeral services for Mrs. Edith Charlotte James, 1314 Yates Street, will be held tomorrow afternoon, the cortege leaving the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home at 2:30 o'clock proceeding to St. Michael's Church, Royal Oak, where Rev. F. Comley and Canon A. E. deL. Nunn will officiate at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in the church cemetery.
 MARY ANN SHEPHERD
 Funeral service for Mrs. Mary Ann Shepherd, who passed away on Monday, took place yesterday afternoon. Rev. E. F. Church conducted the impressive service in the presence of a large congregation of relatives and friends. Among those present were members of the Daughters of the Nile, the casket was covered with many beautiful floral tributes. The hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "Rock of Ages," and a solo, "No Night There," was sung by Mrs. Thompson. The following acted as pallbearers: Arthur Humphries Sr., Albert Humphries and Alfred Sheppard, grandsons, and Arthur Humphries Jr., great-grandson. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

MRS. WAKELIN STILL YAWNING
 Denies Reports That She Has Recovered; May Take Two Or Three Years

Reports published in Vancouver that she had fully recovered from the strange malady which has kept her yawning for 167 days were denied this morning by Mrs. P. E. Wakelin. "I still get spasms when I yawn continuously for hours at a stretch," she said. "Last Monday I yawned practically the whole day. Any exertion makes me yawn."
 She complained of spitting headaches when "for the life of her she could not yawn." Then when the headaches went away she had a spasm of yawning.
 Mrs. Wakelin is in a weakened physical condition and she cannot walk far without her legs giving out. She does a little housework to keep her mind off her malady, she says. "Doctors have told me that I will probably be two years or more before I recover fully due to the fact that it is some kind of a nervous disease," Mrs. Wakelin said.

COMMITTEES OF AUTO CLUB
 Appreciation Expressed of Work of Safety Committee

Owing to the fine work accomplished by the safety committee since its inception early last spring, 1936 directors of the Victoria Automobile Club, at their first meeting yesterday afternoon, decided that it be continued.
 The appointment of committees was undertaken by the board.
 H. E. Potts was appointed chairman of the safety committee, with the power to name his helpers. Appreciation for the untiring efforts of Raymond Kenshaw, retiring chairman, were expressed by the directors.
 W. T. Straith was re-elected chairman of the legislative committee, which will include C. H. French and A. D. King.
 Mr. French and S. M. Armstrong were named the budget committee. Alderman J. D. Hunter and H. E. Potts, new members on the board of directors, were welcomed.
 Since the need for more members in order to operate the club in a more proficient manner, directors announced that shortly an extensive membership drive will be undertaken by the club.
 In this connection members are considering the advisability of adding a new service for members. A suggestion was forwarded by Mr. Potts that the club retain an automotive expert, who would inspect any second-hand car which a member was considering purchasing.
 Thirteen motorists have enlisted into the club's membership since the January meeting of the directorate. It was announced, bringing the total membership to 360.
 A committee consisting of Mr. King and T. J. Goodlake, secretary, was appointed to confer with the Chief of Police Thomas Healey in regard to a more rigid traffic parking system being instituted and enforced in the city. It thought that this would be of great consideration to all, if undertaken.
 Mr. King was handed data secured from Great Britain, New Zealand, the state of Massachusetts and Switzerland, by the secretary, in regard to compulsory automobile insurance. He will read the matter carefully and report as to whether or not the club should interest itself in the introduction of the system in Canada.

 District Command Proposes Resolution to Guard British Columbia Coast

After referring to the lack of adequate coastal defences on the British Columbia coast, members of the district command of the Canadian Legion at yesterday evening's meeting adopted a resolution calling for the immediate establishment of a fully equipped and modern airport near Victoria.
 The resolution will be forwarded to the Dominion convention of the Legion, for endorsement. It was stated that if the resolution was adopted in passing the Dominion convention it would be forwarded to Ottawa.

Restoration Of Cuts Refused
 Esquimalt School Board Unable to Grant Request For Higher Salaries

A request for restoration of salary cuts from the teaching staff of the Lamson Street School and Esquimalt High School was refused by the Esquimalt School Board at its meeting last night.
 The board explained that the finances of the municipality did not warrant restoration at the present time in view of the continued low government grants to the municipality and the loss of revenue from reverted property.
 The board recognized the justice of the teachers' request. The decision was reached unanimously.
 Salaries totaling $2,742.60 and accounts for February, amounting to $223.62, were ordered paid.
 Decreased attendance at the two schools during the last few weeks, owing to the cold weather, was reported.
 Regular contracts for school supplies for the year were granted at the meeting.

License Office Open Tomorrow
 The motor license issuing office of the Provincial Police will remain open tomorrow until 5 o'clock to give drivers who have not obtained their plates an opportunity to do so. All new licenses must be exhibited by March 1 and those failing to comply with this regulation will be prosecuted.

MRS. WAKELIN STILL YAWNING
 Denies Reports That She Has Recovered; May Take Two Or Three Years

Reports published in Vancouver that she had fully recovered from the strange malady which has kept her yawning for 167 days were denied this morning by Mrs. P. E. Wakelin. "I still get spasms when I yawn continuously for hours at a stretch," she said. "Last Monday I yawned practically the whole day. Any exertion makes me yawn."
 She complained of spitting headaches when "for the life of her she could not yawn." Then when the headaches went away she had a spasm of yawning.
 Mrs. Wakelin is in a weakened physical condition and she cannot walk far without her legs giving out. She does a little housework to keep her mind off her malady, she says. "Doctors have told me that I will probably be two years or more before I recover fully due to the fact that it is some kind of a nervous disease," Mrs. Wakelin said.

COMMITTEES OF AUTO CLUB
 Appreciation Expressed of Work of Safety Committee

Owing to the fine work accomplished by the safety committee since its inception early last spring, 1936 directors of the Victoria Automobile Club, at their first meeting yesterday afternoon, decided that it be continued.
 The appointment of committees was undertaken by the board.
 H. E. Potts was appointed chairman of the safety committee, with the power to name his helpers. Appreciation for the untiring efforts of Raymond Kenshaw, retiring chairman, were expressed by the directors.
 W. T. Straith was re-elected chairman of the legislative committee, which will include C. H. French and A. D. King.
 Mr. French and S. M. Armstrong were named the budget committee. Alderman J. D. Hunter and H. E. Potts, new members on the board of directors, were welcomed.
 Since the need for more members in order to operate the club in a more proficient manner, directors announced that shortly an extensive membership drive will be undertaken by the club.
 In this connection members are considering the advisability of adding a new service for members. A suggestion was forwarded by Mr. Potts that the club retain an automotive expert, who would inspect any second-hand car which a member was considering purchasing.
 Thirteen motorists have enlisted into the club's membership since the January meeting of the directorate. It was announced, bringing the total membership to 360.
 A committee consisting of Mr. King and T. J. Goodlake, secretary, was appointed to confer with the Chief of Police Thomas Healey in regard to a more rigid traffic parking system being instituted and enforced in the city. It thought that this would be of great consideration to all, if undertaken.
 Mr. King was handed data secured from Great Britain, New Zealand, the state of Massachusetts and Switzerland, by the secretary, in regard to compulsory automobile insurance. He will read the matter carefully and report as to whether or not the club should interest itself in the introduction of the system in Canada.

NOTES OF THE LEGISLATURE
 The House will not sit tomorrow.
 YESTERDAY
 Rev. Father J. A. Gaudette officiated at prayers yesterday.
 The House will be formally and officially informed that the Premier, the Attorney-General, the Provincial Secretary and the Minister of Labor have been to Ottawa within the last year when answers to a long list of questions on the order paper asked by Herbert Anscomb, Victoria, and R. W. Bruhn, Salmon Arm, are answered. They are also asking about the expense of the trips.
 The Fraser River Bridge, the big issue of last year's session, got on the order paper through questions of R. B. Swales, C.C.F. Delta, who is asking what has been paid for the land for the approaches.
 Rev. Robert Connell, Leader of the Opposition, spoke for one hour in the debate, then moving a vote of confidence amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.
 Speakers on the amendment: R. B. Swales, Delta; E. E. Wynch, Burnaby; Thomas Uphill, Fernie; Harold Wynch, Vancouver East.
 The vote of confidence motion was defeated 22-13.
 C. M. F. Plante, Independent, Peace River, adjourned the debate.
 Two bills were introduced and given first reading.
 The Limitations of Actions Act.
 The Omineca and Vancouver-Burrard By-elections Writs Act.
 All members of the House are now in the city following the arrival of Dr. J. J. Gillis, Liberal, Yale, yesterday.
 Tom Uphill of Fernie ran afoul of several rules and points of order, but assured Mr. Speaker he had often "told myself in my dreams what an excellent Speaker you are."
 Protesting against he was refused an adjournment, Mr. Uphill wanted to know whether he was entitled to the same rights as any other member or not. Mr. Speaker smilingly assured him that "I'm sure you have more."

Franchot Tone

Dominion Star

Plays Lead Opposite Madge
Evans in "Exclusive Story"

Opening Today

Timely and dramatic is "Exclusive Story," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture now at the Dominion Theatre, with Franchot Tone and Madge
Evans in leading roles.Written by Martin Mooney, who exposed the "numbers racket" in the pages of his newspaper, the new picture tells dramatically of the crusade against these kings of gambol by a young attorney for a metropolitan daily paper.It is expertly directed by George Seitz, and the able supporting cast includes Stuart Erwin, Joseph Calleia, Robert Barrant, J. Farrell Mac-Donald, Louise Henry, Margaret
Irving, Wade Boteler, Charles Trowbridge and William Henry.

George Arliss

Here Tomorrow

Out of the rut, both in theme and in its characterization, is George Arliss's second picture for GB,
"Mister Hobo," coming to the Capitol Theatre tomorrow. Satisfying modern financial charity, Arliss plays the role of an old vagabond who becomes involved in the schemes of an insolvent banker and,
by a mixture of sheer unworldliness
and naive cunning, frustrates their every effort.Here is a new Arliss but, as ever, the same polished actor, fitting into the background of a flop house or a dusty highway as expertly as his Rothschild took to the background of a bank; wearing his hobo's rags as convincingly as he wore the decor-ations of Disraeli or Wellington. His hobo is a real man and a lovable one

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

The genius Katharine Hepburn and a Pulitzer prize author are combined to make "Alice Adams," now at the Playhouse Theatre, significant as the star's current RKO Radio Picture
North Parkington's engrossing romance was one of the most talked of stories of the day. Not since she won the academy award for her portrayal of the stage-struck girl in "Morning Glory" has the star had a role which gives her such opportunity for dramatic characterization."Mister Hobo" is a new picture for GB, coming to the Capitol Theatre tomorrow. Satisfying modern financial charity, Arliss plays the role of an old vagabond who becomes involved in the schemes of an insolvent banker and,
by a mixture of sheer unworldliness
and naive cunning, frustrates their
every effort.Here is a new Arliss but, as ever,

Dorothy Dix
Says It's A Grand Old World

WHAT ARE YOUR PET PEEVES? Mine are: Jazz. Particularly at meal-time. Parties where I am forced to play children's games. People who apologize for not having asked me to dinner by saying: "I just told my husband (or wife) that we must have Miss Dix up to the house soon."

People who drag me away from my own good dinner to take pot-luck in theirs. People who give parties where both the guests and the food are ill-assorted and indigestible and seem to have been brought in from the delicatessen store around the corner in a paper bag. People who drink like pigs instead of like ladies and gentlemen.

People who talk about their operations and their love affairs. Monks and nuns. People who fight in public. Women who tell you their marital troubles and men with wives who do not "understand" them.

Parents who hold you up while they relate all of the infantile bonnets of their offspring. Commemorative college boys who are going to make over the world. Drunken little pipsqueaks who boast of how many cocktails they have had, and tell you how the older generation ruined the world for them.

Old women who act like flappers and young girls who affect to be sophisticated. Hard-boiled youth with no illusions, no enthusiasms, no dreams, who are bored by themselves and bore everybody else. Flirtatious married people. Girls who specialize in affairs with married men.

Trouble hounds who have everything on earth to make them happy, but are still miserable. Whiners and complainers whose only internal organs are their tear ducts.

People who slather you over with flattery and then ask a favor. Child performers. Particularly those who recite. Practical jokers. Book-borrowers. Unconventional people who pay you surprise visits and drop in on you when the cook has just left and you are house-cleaning and the baby is sick.

People who give letters of introduction. Friends who insist on your doing everything that they do and thinking just as they think. Sex movies. Filthy plays. Obscene novels. People who sign their letters by a cryptogram that is undecipherable.

People who never answer any questions that you have asked them when they reply to your letter. Salesgirls who call me dearie. Clerks who think that they can force me to buy something I don't want by telling me that they have just sold one like it to Mrs. Croesus.

People who are never on time. Arguers. Plain boiled potatoes and dillwater soup. Otherwise it is a grand old world.

Uncle Wiggily Answers the Door

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Once upon a time Nurse Jane Fussy Wussy and Mrs. Longears, the rabbit lady of Uncle Wiggily, went together to the room where he was sitting reading a book.

"Yes, my dear," said Uncle Wiggily sort of questioning like to his wife. At the same time he took his paw out of his pocket again. Almost always when his wife and Nurse Jane came at him together in this way they wanted money to pay the butcher, the baker or the grocer. "What do you want?" he asked.

"We want to go out, both of us, together, at the same time," said Mrs. Longears. "Nurse Jane wants to go to the store for some things she needs in the bungalow. I want to go to the movies, but we don't want to leave the bungalow all alone."

UNCLE WIGGILY IS TOUCHED

"Why not?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Because there will be no one to answer the door," said Mrs. Longears. "And Nurse Jane is expecting a C.O.D. package. She wants the money to pay for it when it comes."

"Oh, I'll answer the door," said Uncle Wiggily. "And I'll pay the C.O.D. when it comes. Hop along both of you together. I'll be sure to stay right here. Instead of going adventuring this afternoon, so I don't get into any more trouble."

Gladly then did the two animal ladies thank Mr. Longears and away they hopped and to be free for afternoon. They had not long been gone before, all of a sudden, the door bell rang and Uncle Wiggily knew he must go to answer it.

"This is the C.O.D. I guess," he said as he got the money out of his pocket. "I'm glad it came so soon as now I can go out."

But when he answered the door, there stood an old crew man selling shoe lace and collar buttons.

"Please buy some," cawed Mr. Crow. "Oh, all right," said Uncle Wiggily, who was very kind hearted. So he bought some shoe laces and collar buttons. Though he didn't need any. He was back in his easy chair again, reading the book, when once more the bell rang loudly.

"This must be the C.O.D.," said the bunny. But when he opened the door there stood a little old sparrow lady selling iron holders.

"Please buy some," she quavered. "I have no husband and seven little birds in the nest."

"All right," said Uncle Wiggily. So he bought some iron holders though Nurse Jane had a lot already in her kitchen.

Then when Mr. Longears was reading the book again, once more the bell rang and he answered the door. This time it was a little poodle dog boy selling candy that his mother had made to get money to pay the rent.

"All right," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll take some of your candy." He bought all the little poodle dog boy had and went back to his book again. He was just in the most exciting part of it when again the bell rang. Hoping to the door but not opening it, the rabbit called:

"I don't want any shoe laces or collar buttons or iron holders or candy. Now go away, please. Don't bother me any more."

"This is a C.O.D. package," said a girl voice. Opening the door, Uncle Wiggily saw the goat from the store with Nurse Jane's package. But when the bunny reached his hand in his pocket, all his money was gone.

"You'll have to call again with that C.O.D.," said the bunny.

But just then Mrs. Longears and Nurse Jane came home and they had the money. So every thing was all right. And if the robbing horse will give the goat a ride around the block I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's magic lantern.

Forty-Six Are Held For Trial

Canadian Press
New Westminster, Feb. 27.—Forty-six former inmates of relief camps on the Hope-Princeton Highway appeared before Magistrate H. G. Johnston in district police court here yesterday on charges of unlawfully taking four trucks which belonged to the British Columbia Government, and were remanded till March 4 for trial. Bail was set at $400 each, but the men were returned to jail as bail was not posted.

The men walked out of the camps on February 20 and were furnished the trucks to transport them to Hope. On arrival there they forced the drivers to continue on towards Vancouver, but were stopped by provincial police just outside Chilliwack and marched into that city, where they were charged, then brought here to the Oakalla jail.

Singapore, Straits Settlements, Feb. 28.—A cholera epidemic of alarming proportions is taking a toll of hundreds of lives daily throughout Siam, according to dispatches received here. All airplanes and ships arriving here from Bangkok are immediately disinfected by Singapore authorities.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 29, 1936

On this Leap Year extra day of the month the aspects mingle in good and evil planetary influences, according to astrology. While the morning hours are auspicious later conditions are a bit menacing.

With the end of the week many big projects should be promising. The stars encourage confidence and enterprise. Unusual business developments may be expected. Women are well directed under this configuration, which encourages resourcefulness and success. The stars stimulate initiative that may affect even love affairs. Men are likely to be placed in embarrassing dilemmas. While the old legends regarding Leap year are received with a smile of derision, 1936 is to be a twelvemonth of extraordinary love affairs. When wars are preaged romantic flourishes.

This is a most auspicious day for signing legal papers of any sort and especially lucky for those who acquire leases or partnership agreements.

Meninging planets appear to govern many public projects for the aid of the indigent. Paris attend necessary economies in relief matters. Pension schemes will multiply.

The powerful position of Jupiter is said to be consolidating the friendly relations of Great Britain and the United States. The two world powers are to make dramatic history this year, it is forecast.

San Francisco and Portland are subject to planetary influences that preage storms of unusual character. Winds again will cause damage in many parts of the country and there will be many flood dangers next month.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of hard work and struggle with certain unusual circumstances. Subversive of this sign will find relatives and friends more friendly.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly intelligent, independent and generally lucky. Many of these Pices folk turn to unusual occupations.

Any Leo, founded the Society of Shakers in America; was born on this day, 1728. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Lewis Swift, astronomer, 1820, and G. Rossini, composer, 1792.

Three Freighters Coming to Victoria Shortly to Load For Atlantic Coast Ports; Other Waterfront Activities

COAST SHIP IS WRECKED

Ms. Maid of Orleans May Be Total Loss on Bluff South of Prince Rupert

Canadian Press
Prince Rupert, Feb. 28.—The Diesel-powered motorship Maid of Orleans was wrecked south of here during a snowstorm last Wednesday, Capt. Larsen, master of the vessel, reported on his arrival here today.

The Maid of Orleans was en route from Seattle to western Alaska with a general cargo. Capt. Larsen said when he ran into the storm and the ship grounded at Boat Bluff, Sarah Island.

The crew of fifteen reached shore at the Boat Bluff lighthouse safely. Whether his ship would be worth salvaging Capt. Larsen did not know but officers on the St. Prince George will look the wreck over on their southbound trip today and report to him later, Larsen said.

The Maid of Orleans has been in coastal service a number of years.

SHIP SUBSIDIES AGAIN DISCUSSED

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—The number of Orientals employed on steamship lines receiving subsidies from the Canadian Government will be investigated by the industrial and international relations committee of the House of Commons, it was announced in the House yesterday afternoon.

Hon. W. D. Ruler, Minister of Trade and Commerce said he had been informed by officers of the China-Japan steamship services it would cost $800,000 to displace Oriental sailors. The subsidy amounts to only $600,000, so it might have to be increased if the Orientals were dismissed.

He said he had also been told 60 per cent of passengers on the line were Orientals and it might be difficult to find Canadians willing to serve them.

There is a good general cargo aboard the inbound freighter Kingley, which is due here tomorrow night or early Sunday morning from California ports. The vessel will be here several hours discharging her local freight consignments.

Inbound from Japan with a good general cargo and a fair list of passengers, the N.Y.K. motorship Elise Maru will reach Victoria Monday evening and will proceed from there direct to Vancouver. She has 1,530 tons of general cargo, including 186 packages of raw silk for Vancouver as well as fifty-three passengers. There are forty-seven passengers aboard for Seattle.

Tomorrow evening the Ms. Hikawa Maru will pass off the Victoria waterfront on her way to Japan from Vancouver and Seattle.

Waterfront officials will be busy this week-end with two big passenger liners in port. Tomorrow afternoon the American Mail liner President Jackson will spend two hours in port on her way from Seattle to the Orient, and Sunday morning the Empress of Canada will arrive from the Orient and the Hawaiian Islands. She is expected at the Rialto piers about 7 o'clock and will remain two hours before proceeding to Vancouver.

CUT THIS OUT

EXCELLENT REMEDY FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs, which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers.

Secure from your druggist one ounce of Parmit (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmit used in this way acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

Merchant Ships Are Important

Sir F. Thomson Stresses Need of Tramp Freighters in Time of War

London, Feb. 28.—The vital importance of the merchant marine in the face of "increasing international tension" was stressed yesterday by Sir Francis Thomson, president of the Chamber of Shipping of the United Kingdom, addressing the annual meeting of the chamber.

"Our country must have a mercantile marine of sufficient size to supply the peace-time needs of its people," Sir Francis said. "Otherwise, in time of war or emergency, it would be dependent upon foreign tonnage for its food supplies."

Appealing for Government subsidies to help British ship owners meet foreign competition, Sir Francis continued:

"It is clear that, in the present exceptional state of overseas world trade, British ship owners, however efficient, could not compete indefinitely with state-aided tonnage. Any suggestion that a temporary subsidy for tramp vessels in such circumstances was merely a cloak for inefficiency are quite unjustified."

Want Shipyards On West Coast

Washington, Feb. 28.—A war in the Pacific was pictured yesterday by the United States House of Representatives naval committee to emphasize a plea for building up west coast ship-construction facilities.

Representative Lea (D., California), who presided over the committee, said that the committee to urge a 6 per cent differential in favor of Pacific Coast shipbuilders in the proposed ten-year program for construction of fifty-four naval auxiliary vessels.

"We must prepare the navy on the assumption we will have a war," declared Lea. "Picture a great contest in the Pacific and realize that we must be able to build and repair ships on the west coast."

"We must assume we are going to have a war, possibly before the end of the month, and we must provide for our navy on the west coast with that in mind."

The Navy Department is opposed to the differential.
